"A brisk stroll in the cool autumn mornings is the only way to start the day," advises Mr. Arnold T. Sanderson, Worthington Senior High School's principal.

A major influence of Worthington Senior High School is our principal, Mr. Arnold T. Sanderson. As principal of WHS, he is responsible for the general operation of the school. All decisions concerning the school activities, the student body, and the faculty must be approved by him.

The WHS superintendent of schools, Mr. S. L. Held, is responsible for the general supervision and direction of all aspects of the school. He and his staff are responsible for developing a comprehensive program of education.

Mr. Donald Koenig, assistant principal, supervises the record keeping of each student's school attendance, the handling of disciplinary problems, and the student's daily schedule. In the absence of the principal, he must assume full responsibility of the high school.

Two full time counselors, Mr. Duane Fish and Mrs. Betty Buchele, offer their assistance to the students who plan to further their education. Throughout the year they talk with the students to assure that graduation requirements are being fulfilled and answer the many questions brought to them each day.

The School Board, representing the Worthington School District 518, is composed of seven members, elected for a four year term. The Board meets twice a month with additional meetings scheduled when necessary.

WHS Students Depend on Competent Leadership

Checking on an absent student's excuse is Mr. Donald Koenig, assistant principal.

What more practical courses were there than those offered in the East wing of WHS? By showing students how to work with tools, many doors were opened to future vocations.

Industrial Arts students studied technical drawings which consisted of background work in the basic phases of drawing. Students used power tools and were taught to plan, design, and build their own projects. Woodworking and plastic techniques were perfected.

Agricultural classes participate in an inclusive study of animal husbandry plus an introduction to Farm Mechanics. Soil management and crop production is undertaken as well as crop storage, marketing leadership training, and farm mechanics.

Electronics is an exploratory course in basic direct- and alternating-current circuits. Electronic devices of various types are used as a basis for this study. Some devices used are theory and practice.

Drafting is a course in graphic representation, involving the use of instruments and materials in the study of various systems of shape and size descriptions, space problems and intersections and development.

The study of small gas engines is undertaken in Power Mechanics. Related skills pertaining to automotive repair is also taught.

Social Classes Gain Insight of History

Studying American History, sophomores were brought into contact with the affairs of the U.S. Their curriculum covered the westward movement, frontier life, industrialization and world wars. Team teaching, with 120 students and two teachers, was used again this year to broaden the students' insights into the topic.

Juniors examined the effects of ancient civilization and the development of culture, on the countries of today.

Seniors studied political science for one semester and economics for another semester. Political science covered the making of the Constitution and gave the student a better understanding of the laws of the U.S. Economics prepared the future graduates for their roles in American society.

Psychology investigated the behavior of living animals and human beings. Students experimented with the learning processes of human beings.

Basic Principles Are Taught by Math, Biology

"For the electron configuration notation, you use the basic electron structure chart," explains Chemistry teacher, Mr. Larry Petersen.

This year the Science department offers a new challenge for the Advanced Biology students. They had independent study where they worked in the lab, went to the library for research, or had discussion. Other courses offered to the students interested in science were Biology, Chemistry, and Physics.

By offering a variety of courses from General Math to Modern Introductory Analysis, the Math department met the students needs.

Geometry, Algebra, and Modern Introductory Analysis were electives that provided for a well rounded high school education for the Math student. This year the Math department met the student's needs and enabled those who were talented in Math to continue, well prepared, for college mathematics.

For students needing more individual help in mathematics there was a class in General Math, taught by Mr. Buchele.

Geometry, taught by Mr. Schimbeno and Mr. Droegemueller, provided a basis for students to later take Algebra and Physics.

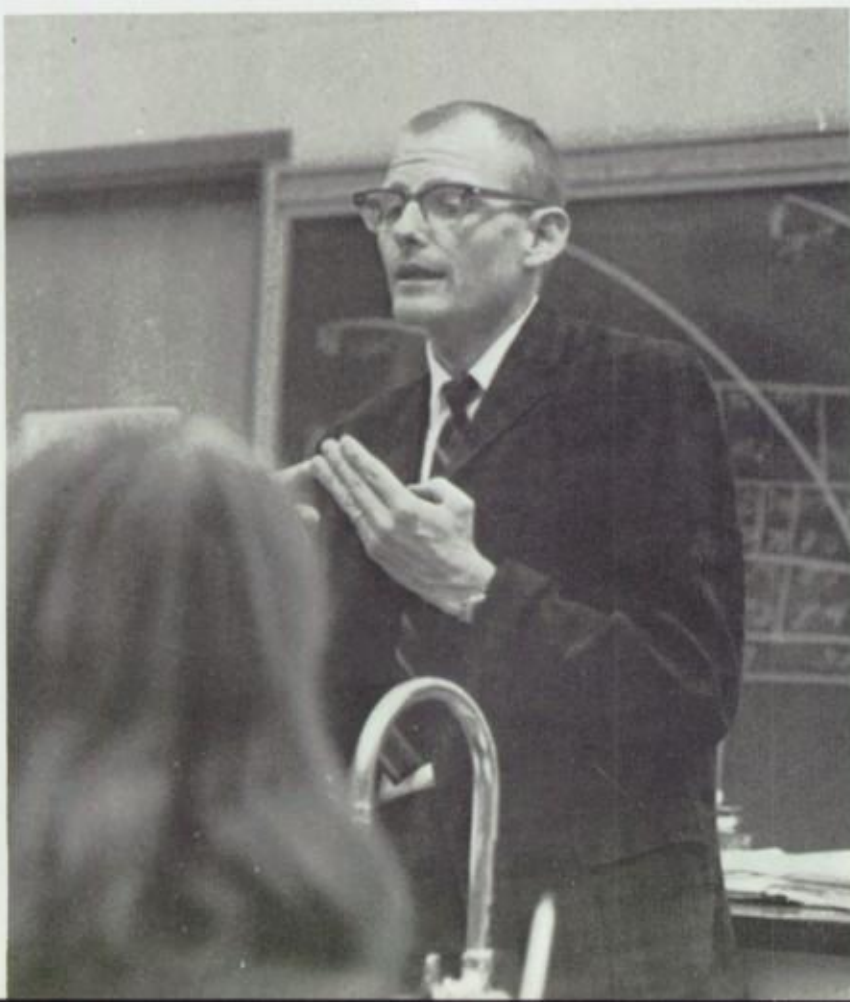

Algebra, usually following Geometry, was instructed by Mr. Forsyth and Mr. Adel. This year models were used to illustrate each conic section.

Modern Introductory Analysis used the chalk grid during the study of vectors and the overhead projector during the study of trigonometry functions.

Biology Club was directed by Mr. Leo Peterson. Field trips and lab projects were taken during the year and time was given to the students to experiment with test tubes, microscopes, and slides.

Scowling at all the paper work that needs his immediate attention, Mr. Droegemueller gets down to work. Mr. Droegemueller teaches Modern Geometry and coaches wrestling.

Emphasis Is Placed on English and Language

Again this year, the English department continued its efforts to aid students in their appreciation and use of the English language.

English 10 is taught by Rosemary Heineke, Ardys Hesselink and Eldon Landis. During the year they studied grammar and literature which includes reading Silas Marner and Julius Caesar.

American literature was the theme of English II this year. Juniors read poetry, short stories, and a play entitled "Our Town" in addition to the study of mass media and grammar. English II is taught by John Evans, Ramona Gehring and Carole Olson.

Under the direction of Marcia Holland, James Arnott, and Ramona Gehring, the seniors studied English literature and grammar. During the year the English 12 classes acted out Shakespeare's play, "Macbeth".

Along with their English, some of the students took a foreign language. The students were given a choice between German and French. Emphasis was placed on oral pronunciation and grammar usage. Mr. John Evans teaches German I, II, III, and IV, and Lucretia Foss third year French.

"Now let's open our literature books, shall we?" questions Miss Holland to her English 12 class.

"Just one more adjustment of this dial and it should work fine," states Mr. John Evans, teacher of English and German.

"Just add this sentence to your essay and it will be fine," advises Mrs. Gehring. She teaches English 11.

Business Classes Prepare Students for Future

Business courses offered in WHS provided the student with the basic knowledge and the experience needed for future jobs. Students interested in a business career can choose from office education and distributive education which included bookkeeping, business law, business machines, merchandising, record keeping, stenography, and typing. These classes trained students for various jobs ranging from secretarial work to running department stores.

Besides these various courses there are two clubs to which the students can belong. The clubs are Distributive Education Clubs of America and Minnesota Office Education Association. In these clubs such activities as clothing drives, calendar sales, and the state conventions are held. All of these activities in one way or the other helped the students receive a better understanding of salesmanship and competition.

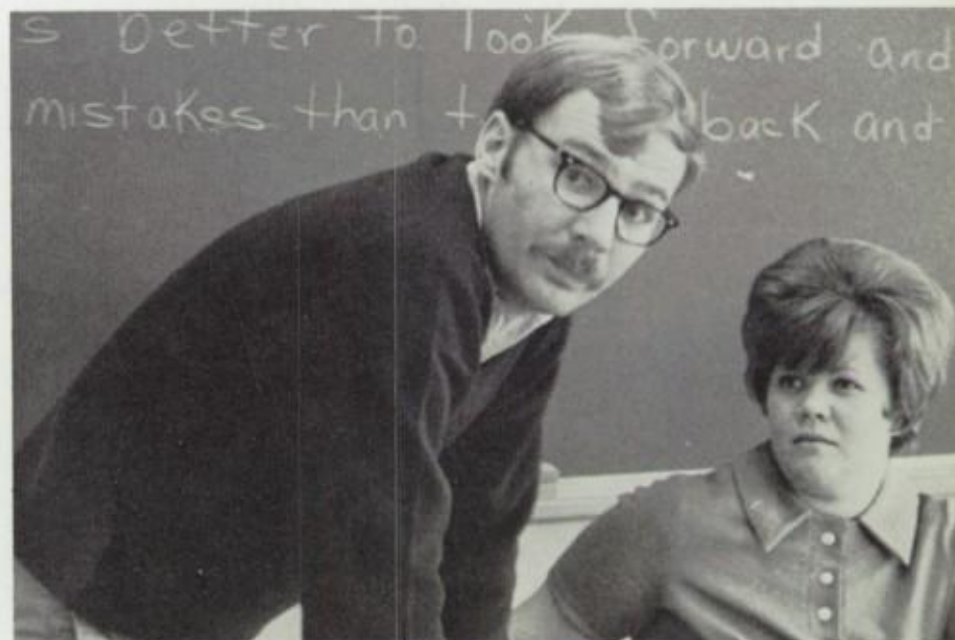

Distributive Education students gain on the job experience by working after school hours at local stores and drive-ins.

Classes taught by Mrs. Netwal and Mrs. Gay approached the subjects of Home Economics 10, 11, and 12 in different ways. Students learned the methods of flower arranging and made dried flower arrangements. Throughout the year principles of sewing, care of children, food and clothing were stressed. During part of the year, the girls used the food labs to practice the correct preparation of food.

The Future Homemakers of America Club, advised by Mrs. Netwal, was in charge of the coffee hours. Films or a speaker was provided for entertainment at least once a month.

Student Council and Student-Faculty Board Are Students'

Worthington High School's Student Council has completed another successful year. Along with their advisor, Mr. Richard Adel, the Student Council met regularly each Thursday during the homeroom period. During this time the members, one representative from each homeroom and class, met and discussed activities and expenses of the student body.

The Student Council's main project was the planning and sponsoring of homecoming events, this year including a bonfire, snake dance, and homecoming dance after the football game. They also sponsored Spirit Week, the Christmas party, and student lyceums.

Officers were Dean Ager, president; Bruce Campbell, vice-president; Marjean Mitchell, secretary; and Tom Kissinger, treasurer.

The Student-Faculty Board, a newly-developed governing voice, is composed of two student representatives from each grade and one teacher representative from each school department.

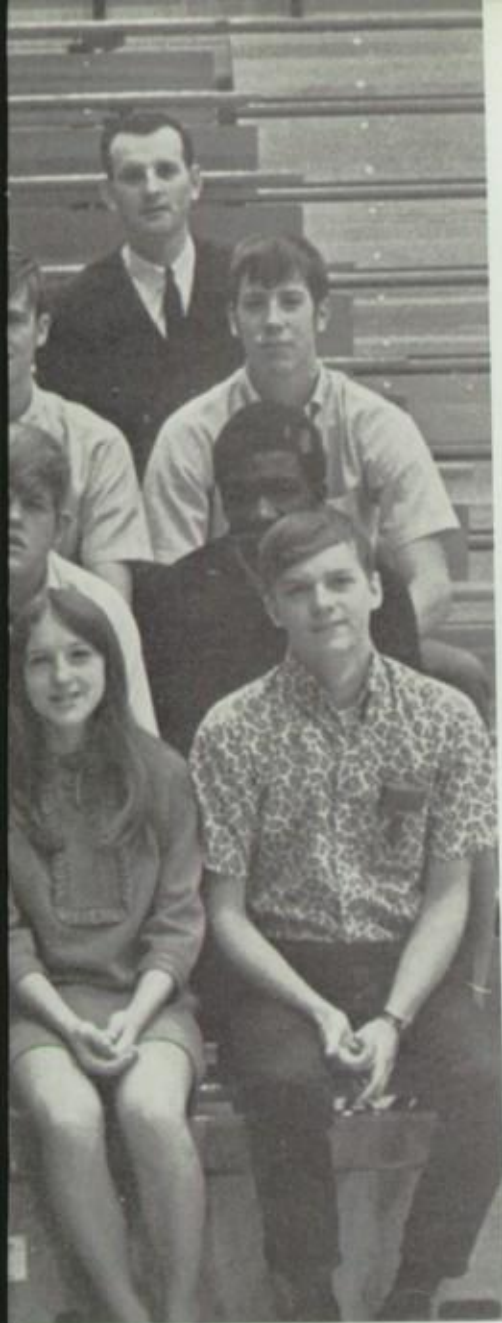

Representing the sophomore class were Julie Beck and Gary Peterson; the junior class, Colleen Shannon and Scott Haas; and the senior class, Janelle Snyder and Tom Rogers.

Mr. John Evans represented the language department; Mr. Eldon Landis, the English department; Mr. James Gay, the social studies department; Mr. David Copperud, the psychology department; Miss Connie Olson, the business department; and Mr. Leon Schimbeno, the math department.

The band presented its customary winter and spring concerts and participated in the music contests. The final formal performance for the season was the annual "Colorama".

The Sophostocats Stage Band made two appearances at the Minnesota State Fair. Pam Glad and Jane Meyer participated in the University of Minnesota High School Musicians' Project.

Stuart Evensen, Baritone, was chosen one of two students from Minnesota to participate in McDonald's All-American Band. Appearances of the band included the New York City Macy Day Parade, and the Pasadena Rose Bowl Parade.

Opens Choral Season with November Festival

A Fall Choral Festival, originated this year by Choir Director, Mr. David Blegen, opened the 1969-70 choral season. Six area high school choirs, Luverne, Fulda, Magnolia, Slayton, Melvin, and Worthington participated in the November concert. Dr. Dale Warland of Macalester College was the guest director.

The choir made their second public appearance at a uniquely different Christmas Concert entitled "Good News". The songs performed reflected strong social comment on current issues.

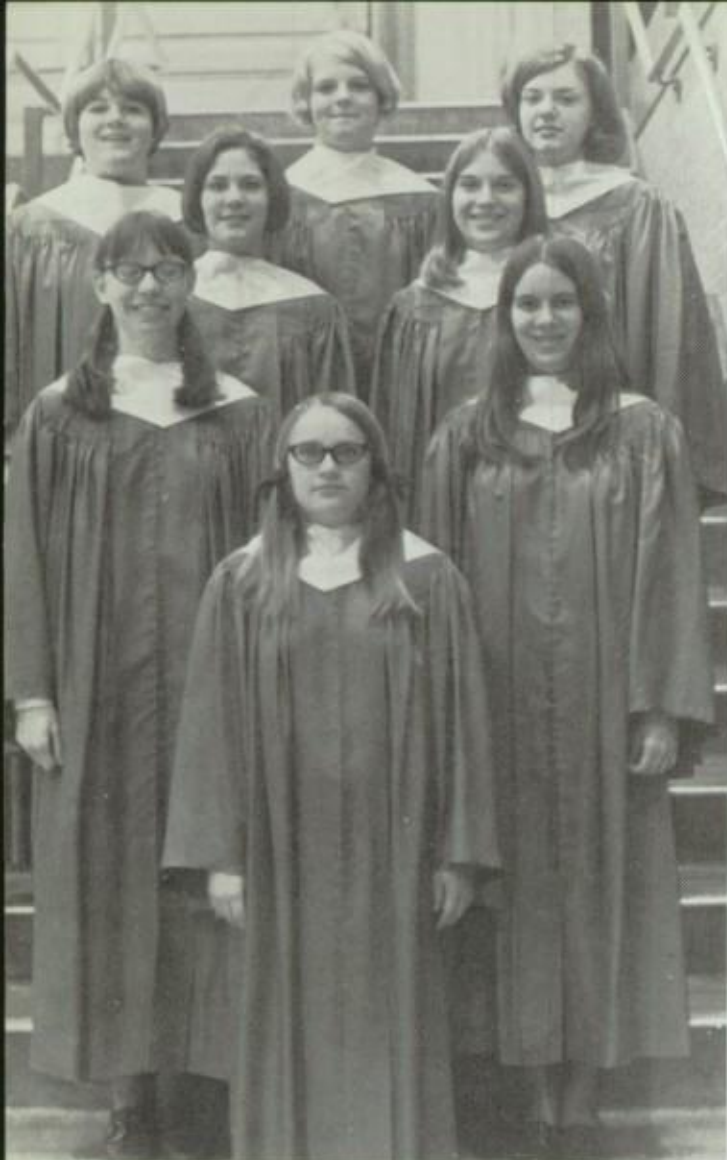

Leading the choir in their respective sections were: Sue Graf, Darlene Pronk, soprano; Bonny Schield, Jane Meyer, alto; Jeff Taylor, Brad Wing, tenor; and Stuart Evensen, John Nunamaker, bass.

John Nunamaker represented Worthington in Minnesota All-State Choir.

Solo and ensemble preparation began early in the year for the spring contests. This provided an opportunity for extra vocal work and the challenge of perfecting their performances.

Mr. Blegen seems pre-occupied with his duties as WHS Choir Director.

Girls' Chorus, YFC Members Hold Many Interests

Girls' Chorus, led by Heidi Kirn, president; Casuko Sofue, vice-president; and Lori Wachter, secretary; met each day during seventh hour. The 43-member choir was organized for those girls who enjoyed singing, but did not wish to participate in the Senior High School Choir. The Girls' Choir did participate in the Christmas and Spring Choir Concerts.

Sections leaders included Debbie Hanten, first soprano; Sandi Klumper, second soprano; and Lori Wachter, alto. Lori Wachter also served as accompanist for the group. Mr. David Blegen directed the choir.

Youth For Christ completed its third active year. The group met on Monday nights to discuss various aspects of life, thus providing an opportunity for Christian fellowship. Several speakers were invited to participate in their Monday meetings and the rallies which were held at Mountain Lake.

Arranging the activities for the YFC organization for the year are Carol Nordell, Prayer and follow-up chairman; Jeanie Evans, social chairman; Marsha Bruns, secretary; Barb Rust, vice-president in charge of program; John Nordell, vice-president in charge of management, Dale Nystrom, president; and their advisor, Mr. Leon Schimbeno.

The German Club members had a special treat when three German men touring the United States doing research work for their doctorate at a German University spoke to the club. FRONT ROW: German guest, Siegfried Klopfe, German exchange student Heidi Kirm, guest Karl Keim, Rose Lederer, guest Hans Bahler, Gladys Sternke, Kathy Whitely, Nancy Corbit, SECOND ROW: Becky Sall, Connie Harmel, Debbie Hanten, Debbie Kempema, Jeannie Evans, vice-president; Pat Hughes, president; and Donna Hauge, Secretary-Treasurer; were responsible in organizing the variety of activities for the German Club.

Through their participation in a foreign language club, club members were offered the opportunity to learn more about Germany and France. Various aspects of the two countries were illustrated through games, skits, moves and slides.

The German Club provided its members with the opportunity to speak the language in an informal situation. Visitors from Germany broaden the members understanding of the culture and customs of the German people.

The French Club produced a French melodrama, with French parts and English narration. Other activities included several skits for the Junior High School French class and a Christmas Party.

French, German Culture Perpetuated by Clubs

Assuring the French Club of an active year are Scott Rubsam, president; Chris Clark, program chairman, Pam Glad, treasurer; Margaret Heeden, secretary; and Miss Lucretia Foss, advisor. (Not pictured, Jan Nelson, vice-president).

Military Intervention Question Faced by Debaters

The Worthington High School debaters were faced with the 1969-70 national topic for high school debaters, Resolved: That Congress should prohibit unilateral military intervention in foreign countries.

The affirmative teams proposed that Congress should stop U.S. military action or intervention in foreign countries without other countries' consents.

The negative teams supported the status quo.

Worthington hosted tournaments here on October

25 and on January 24. Debators attended and participated in area tournaments weekly.

Mr. James Arnott was coach of the group.

Politics Inspires Youth.

YMCA Youth in Government is a club comprised of a group of students who are interested in how the state government and its lawmaking body works and functions.

As part of this group, the members attended two meetings. The first, held on Hamline Campus in St. Paul, was mainly an organizational meeting and it was at this meeting that state officers were elected. Soni Hegg, WHS junior, was elected to serve as the Clerk of the House.

The second meeting, held in January again in St. Paul, was a mock state legislature in which bills drafted and written out by the students were debated and discussed.

The group's advisors were local YMCA director Bill Simpson and Nobles County Attorney, Gary Crippen.

The purpose of the International Relations Club is to broaden the knowledge of world problems and to gain an intellectual understanding of these problems through discussion by members of the club.

Presiding over these discussions were: Joe Manion, president; Karen Oberling, vice-president; Deb Heeringa, secretary-treasurer; Priscilla Hanson, junior representative; Ginny Peterson, sophomore representative; and Mr. Gay, advisor.

One of the highlights of the year's activities was the annual banquet at which Heidi Kirn and Debbie Heeringa, exchange students, expressed their views in a program on the similarities of young people in Germany and the United States.

Other activities of the club included the Model Security Council, held in Hull, Iowa, a simulation game of world problems, and the Model General Assembly which the club sponsored here in the spring.

"You mean we have to go through all these pictures?" asks Nancy Johnson of class section editor Joyce Nelsen as Marcia Darling, Sue Trunnell and Jane Schroer suddenly realize what they are about to undertake.

"Full Speed ahead!" shouts Student life Editor Terry Rogers as members of the Student Life Section, Jane Amundson, Jorja Goebel and Kathy Lambert take time out from their annual work for a little fun.

Editor Kathy Motl and Assistant Editor Pat Fauskee smile signs of approval as Advisor Mr. Pederson explains the layout for the opening section.

Trojan photographer John Cross spends many hours "bending over" darkroom developing equipment.

"All aboard for the impossible mission" exclaims Organization Editor Janet Kellen with approval from Debbie Anderson, Deb Earl and Jan Nelson. The organization section made numerous trips to acquire the needed pictures and information for their section.

Trojan Staff Creates "A Look of Our Own"

Faculty section members Lavonne Hieronimus, Dorothy Bisbee, Karen Koster, and Editor Diane Homan carefully examine possible pictures for their section.

Working under Editor Kathy Motl and advisor Mr. Pederson, the Trojan staff worked hard to relate memories of the 1969-70 school year to WHS students.

Using the theme, "The Look of Our Own", the staff spent many hours drawing layouts, and writing headlines, captions, and copy. They chose appropriate pictures for various events, ideas, and organizations.

Pressure was exerted by section editors in their attempt to get pictures scheduled and individual assignments completed in time to meet each of the four deadlines.

When the final deadline was met in mid-January, additional work went into the completion of the supplement.

Now that the stress is over and the toil is but a memory, a sense of pride is felt by those of the Trojan staff, who devoted so much of their time to so worthy a cause.

"How does this look?" asks Debbie Anderson as Kathy Motl promptly agrees to use a recommended picture for the opening section.

Representing WHS sports is the Sport Section: Connie Pfingsten, Pat Fauskee, Laurita Carnahan, Diann Sasse, and Editor June Schroer.

Usherettes Offer Their Services

The Usherettes Club consists of a group of senior girls united with the purpose of providing service for the community and the school.

Under the leadership of Mary Dammer, president, and Miss Connie Olsen, advisor, the usherettes were present at various community functions to hand out programs and to assist at the door. The girls ushered at such programs as the Civic Artists Series, band and choir concerts, and the Dr. Kit Show.

Intramurals Provide Excitement

Intramurals has provided another year of competition, exercise, and fun for those who participated in the weekly activity.

Girls' intramurals were held on Thursday nights. Under the leadership of Miss Cooper, their activities included volleyball, basketball, bowling, and softball.

Mr. Sonju was in charge of boys' football intramurals. These were held on Monday and Tuesday nights during football season. Playoffs were held and a championship team named.

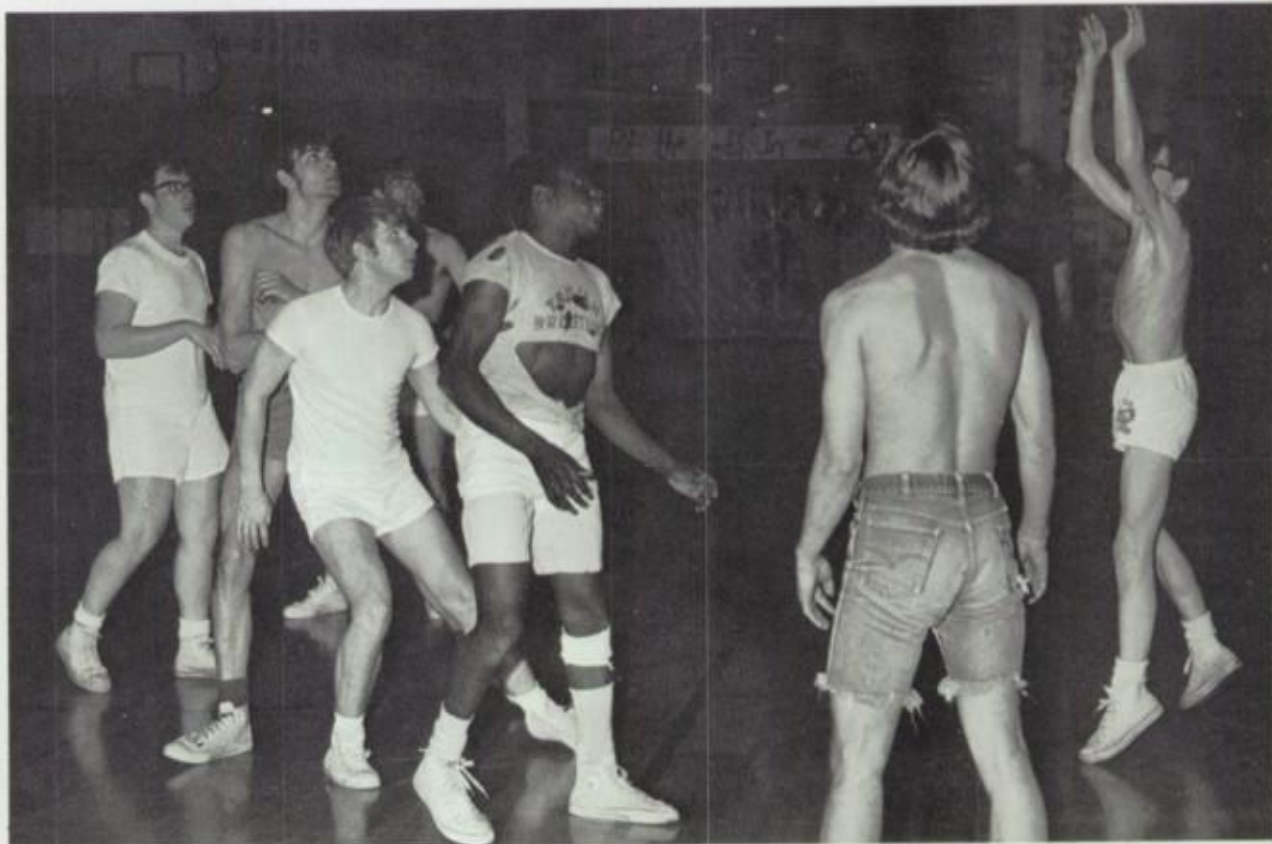

In early December, basketball intramurals began with Mr. Gay as advisor. The Monday night activity gave boys who were not participating in varsity basketball a chance to compete in this popular sport.

The Worthington-Crailsheim International Exchange Program was begun in 1956 in an attempt to further political and economic relations between Germany and America after World War II. The program started on a four year basis. It then began in alternate years, and now students are exchanged every year. Before a student can qualify for the exchange program he must be academically superior as well as a good citizen in the community.

Sean Loggee was the representative sent to Crailsheim while Heidi Kirn was the German representative from Crailsheim.

They again participated in the trick or treat for Vietnam, the clothing drive, and the selling of Turkey Day buttons, chocolate bars, and cloth calendars.

The Office Education Club also offered their services in preparing Halloween and Christmas gifts for Vietnam servicemen, and by stuffing envelopes for the Crippled Children's School.

Both clubs jointly sponsored an all-school Christmas dance on December 20.

The advisor for both clubs was Mr. David Haugan.

FHA Emphasizes Importance of Homemaking Skills

FHA members listen intently as Officer Rot-schafer explains various temptations for thievery presented by careless individuals.

The Future Homemakers of America Club worked to meet several goals. One of the main goals was to promote a growing appreciation of the jobs and satisfactions of homemaking.

The club held two meetings monthly. One was a business meeting while the other featured a program, usually with a speaker.

FHA provided their services each week by serving the administration at a coffee hour.

In the fall, FHA joined FFA, the Future Farmers of America club, for their annual hobo party. During this party, LeAnn Grimmius and Greg Ponto were chosen queen and king.

Spring provided a time when they again joined FFA for their annual slave auction. The FHA banquet was also held in the spring, during which the new officers were installed.

Leading FHA this year were: Rhonna Ling, president; Patsy Ling, vice-president; Sue Kempema, secretary; Joeline Middagh, treasurer; Janice Ling, historian, Sharon Grant, parliamentarian; and Lois Laffrenzen, coffee hour chairman. Their advisor was Mrs. Netwall.

W-Hi Star Distinguishes Itself as First-Class Paper

Senior staff members discuss possibilities for stories in the next edition of the W-Hi Star at one of their weekly staff meetings.

The journalism class alumni, journalism students, and other students interested in journalism busied themselves preparing a bi-weekly newspaper, the W-Hi Star. Various columns such as Plumage by Julie Hansberger, Stu's Mulligan by Stuart Evensen, Thru the Seasons by John Cross, and Sights and Sounds by Scott Rubsam were enjoyed by the students of WHS with each issue of the paper.

Publication of the paper was led by Joe Manion, editor, and Charlotte Blackstad and Pat Fauskee, assistant editors. Liz Gallagher was feature editor; Deb Earl, copy editor; Diann Sasse, sports editor; and Joyce Nelsen was in charge of circulation. John Cross and Dale Nystrom were the staff's photographers. Mrs. Marybeth Blegen served as their advisor.

W-Hi Star staff members contributed much of their time in researching and writing stories, typing copy, taking pictures, arranging layout, finishing paste-up, and meeting deadlines.

In mid-January, the junior journalism class replaced the senior staff. They were challenged with interviewing many different people and attempting to use new techniques of newspapering.

Service Clubs Offer Assistance

The Library Club and the Office Girls performed many useful service duties for the school.

The Office Girls, under the supervision of Mrs. Marge Heeren, spent many busy days signing absence slips and recording hourly reports of absentees as well as acting as receptionists for school visitors.

The assistant librarians worked during their study hour each day performing various duties such as: filing books, magazines, and cards; typing, arranging shelves, and checking books in and out of the library. The club's advisor was Mr. Dwayne Honnerman, librarian.

Camera Club and Projectionists Gain Skills

Camera Club members, with help from their advisor, Mr. Harold Carlson, have been developing their photographic skills throughout the year. John Cross served as President with Stephanie Little as Secretary-Treasurer. Early in the year the group visited the photography department of the Minneapolis Star Tribune. The club also viewed colored slides from New Guinea presented by Bill Kuykendall, photo editor for the Worthington Daily Globe. The Projectionists Club, supervised by Mr. Honnerman, provides a service for both students and teachers. Members of the club are responsible for the upkeep of the audio-visual equipment. They receive training in the use of movie projectors, tape recorders, phonographs, slide projectors, and overhead projectors.

The Senior Class of 1970 presented as their senior class play, a Broadway hit entitled "Time Out For Ginger" by Ronald Alexander.

The plot of the play centered around the Carol family and the antics of their youngest daughter, Ginger. Howard Carol, played by Scott Rubsam, is a staid father and banker who needs some sort of creative release. He finds it in lecturing to local high school classes on the need for self-fulfillment.

His wife, Agnes, is constantly worried about his conduct on the podium while the maid, Lizzie, tries repeatedly to understand why people ask him to speak. Charlotte Blackstad played the role of Agnes and Sally Zuehlke portrayed Lizzie.

It quickly develops however, that one of his daughters, Ginger, portrayed by Sue Graf, has been very much impressed by her father's speech. She has further decided that her own true fulfillment can best be realized by going out for the school football team.

A number of complications result. The father's job is jeopardized because the bank president (Joe Manion) and the school principal (Jerry Buechler) don't approve.

Ginger's elder sisters, Joan and Jeannie, insist that their social life has been blighted. Carol Nordell and Marcia Darling played the parts of Joan and Jeannie.

Finally Ginger herself realizes that playing football and being a girl aren't always compatible, particularly when her boyfriend, Tommy (John Stam), disapproves of what she's doing.

After a number of riotous mishaps, the play ends on a happy note with the whole family learning a lesson on the importance of self-fulfillment. The play was directed by Mr. Alan Swanson with Karen Oberling assisting him as student director.

FFA Initiates Record Number of New Members

This year, the Worthington FFA Chapter initiated a record-breaking number of members. Forty-nine new members participated in the Chapter's Greenhand Initiation.

The Future Farmers of America is a national organization for boys studying vocational agriculture. The FFA has freedom of self-government aided by adult counsel and guidance. The local chapter was under the advisory of Mr. Walter Larson, Mr. Martin Aaser, and Mr. John Wright.

The officers were: Randy Lindemann, president; Merlin Teerink, vice-president; Dan Perkins, secretary; Ronald Wagar, treasurer; Karl Dekker, sentinel; and Lynn Darling, reporter.

Each member has a supervised occupational program which is an active farm-learning situation for each boy. The club competed in annual judging contests including wild life, forestry, crops, soil judging, dairy, general livestock, meats, farm mechanics, creed contest, parliamentary procedure, and public speaking divisions.

The annual FFA-FHA Slave Auction and the Nobles County Food Stand at the fair, again provided a source of funds for the club. The FFA Chapter held their annual Parent-Son Banquet February 23.

This year, the Worthington FFA Chapter participated in a goodwill Corn Drive. Farmers donated corn, which the FFA boys picked, shelled and sold to raise money for Camp Courage, a camp for crippled children and adults.

The Worthington FFA Chapter was represented at important conventions. A FFA State Convention was held in May. In October, four boys traveled to Kansas City, Missouri, for the National Convention. Lynn Darling, Karl Dekker, Kendall Langseth, and Ronald Wagar, accompanied by Mr. Aaser, represented the Worthington Chapter. At these conventions, the delegates decided on important issues facing the FFA organization.

The FFA Chapter distinguished itself by winning many honors in judging contests and in their Nobles County Children's Barnyard and other displays.

Kendall Langseth was awarded the Star Greenhand for his scholarship, leadership and active participation in FFA.

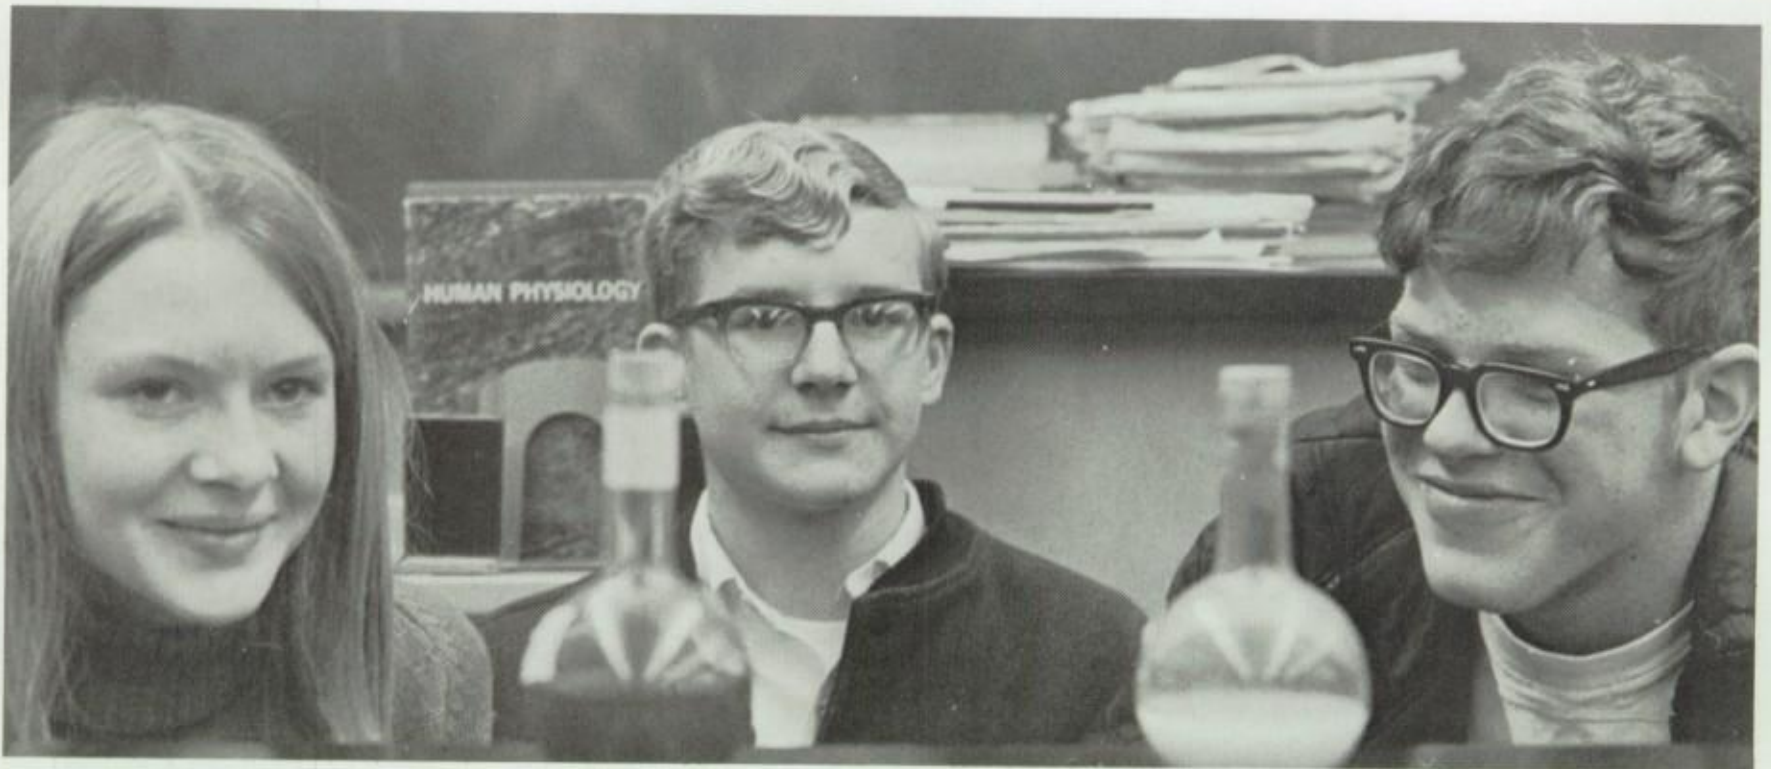

Winners of the FFA Crop Show held December 15-19 were: Kurt Groenewald, Eugene Alberts, Randy Lindemann, Alan Gruis, Larry Jacobs, Duane Rogers, Dennis Christensen, Dennis Hietbrink, Doug O'Neil, and Randy

Trojanettes, the pep club of Worthington High School, was a group of girls united together with the purpose of promoting school spirit, arousing enthusiasm within the school, and boosting the morale of Trojan teams. Any girl was accepted for membership provided she agreed to do her part as a member of the club.

Some of the methods of arousing spirit in the school used by the club were those of painting signs before games and hanging them in the halls, performing pep skits at pep meetings, and sitting together as a group at games and pep meetings.

The 1969-70 officers were: Marjean Mitchell, president; Pat Hill, vice-president-secretary; Bonnie Gerdes, sign chairman; and Jane Schroer, skit chairman. The Trojanette advisor was Miss Linda Cooper.

Ally-ooop! Al Muchlinski arches it in for two points.

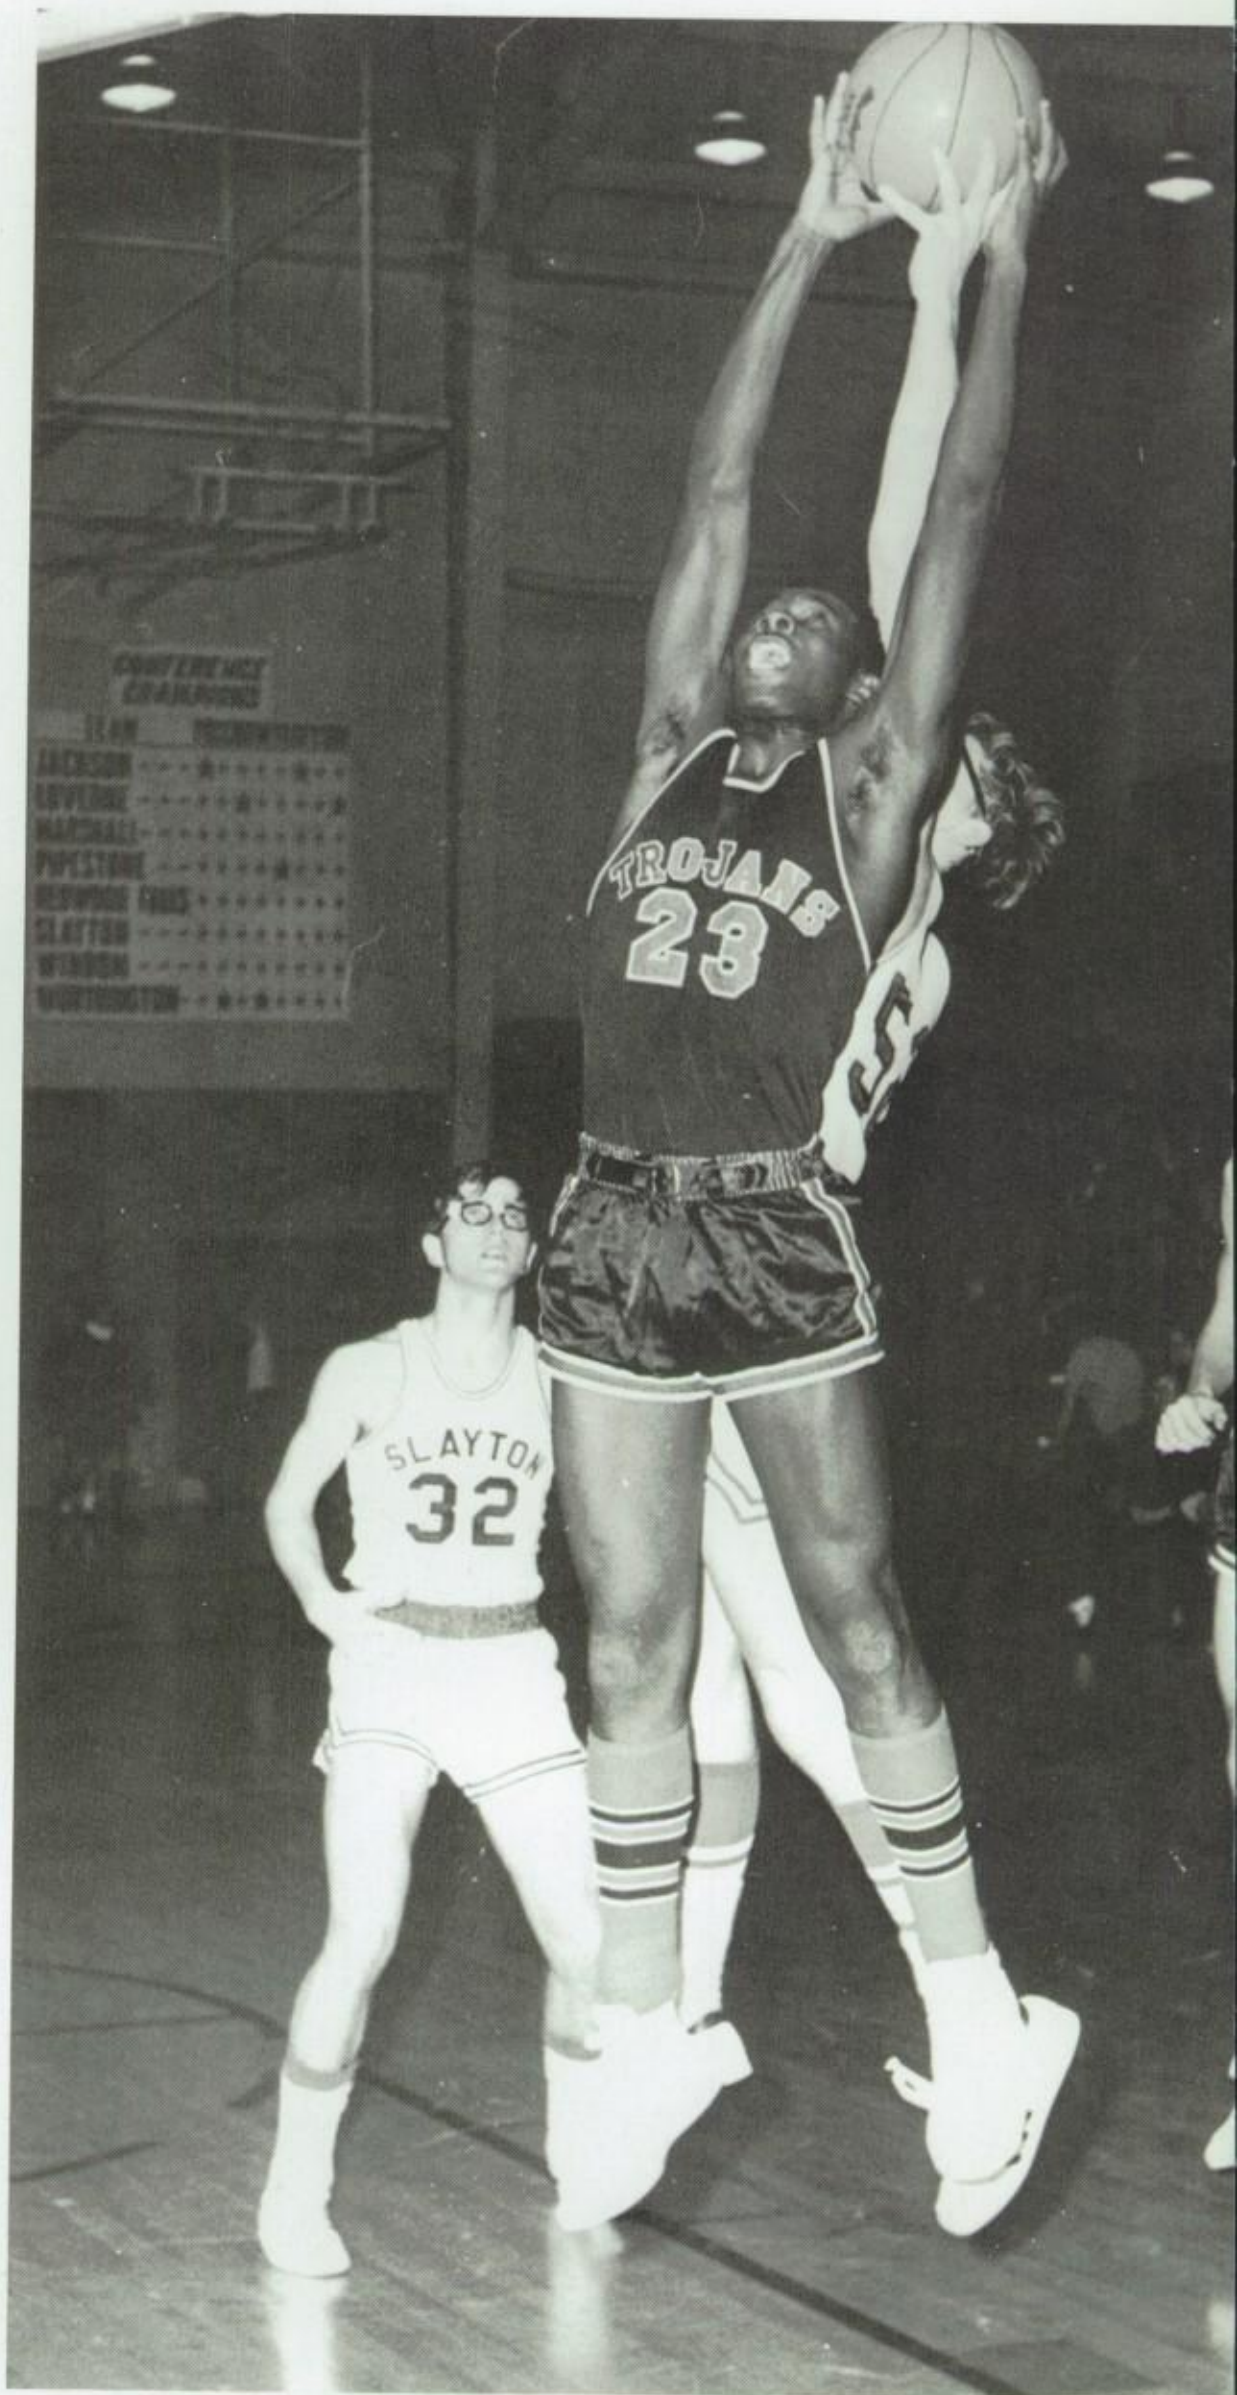

"Ready, Aim, Fire!" Bill Knoche guns in another freethrow for the Trojans.

"I don't remember this in the instruction booklet," decides junior cager Bill Knoche.

"My experience counts," stretches Mike Kirkwood.

"Up, up and in," prays Steve Johnson as he attempts another Trojan bucket.

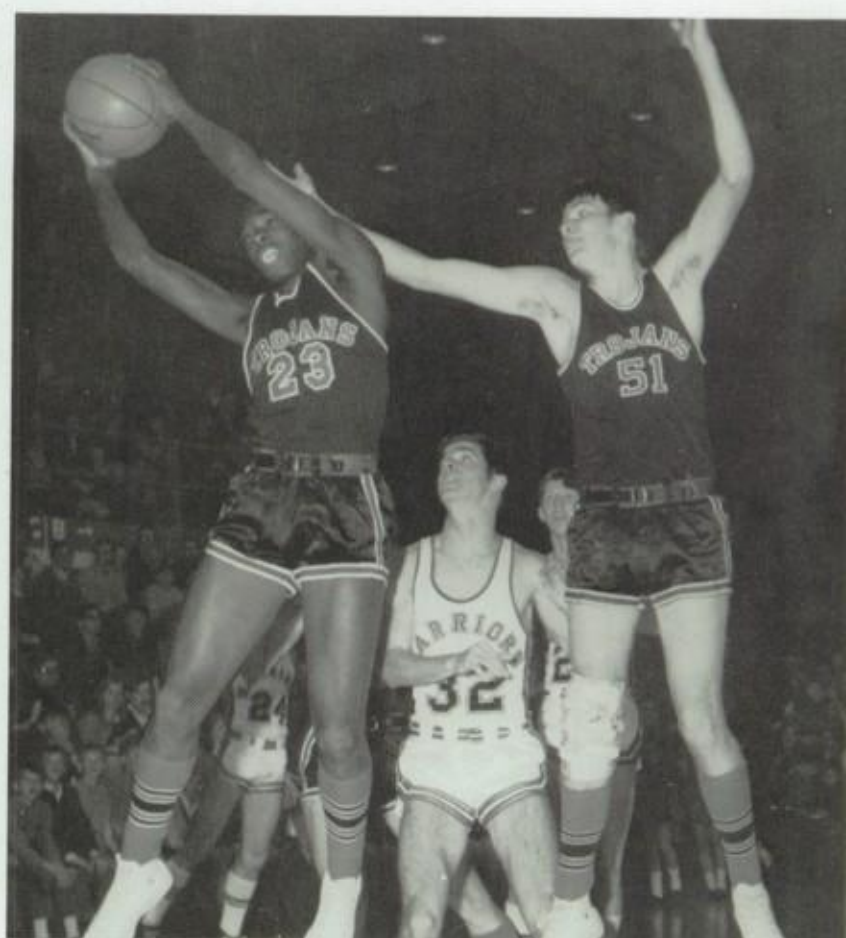

Trojan Boost Inspires Successful Season

"Go out and get 'em," instructs the coach during a time-out, as Basche's boys gather for a basketball boost.

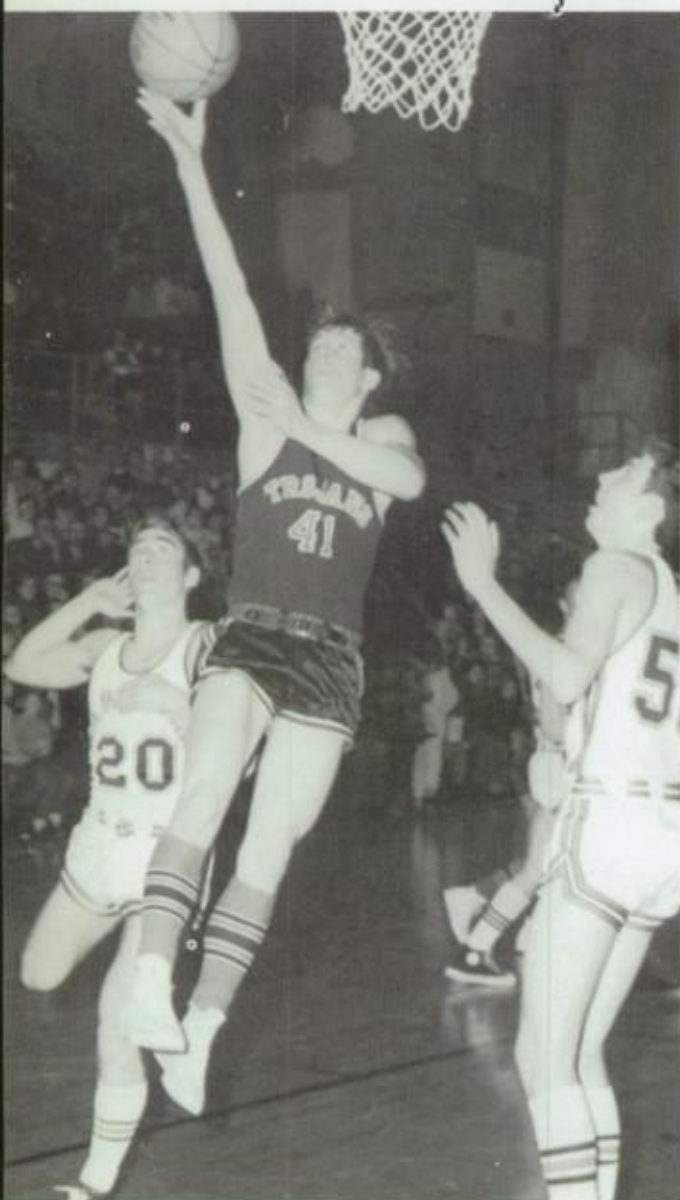

"Ring around a Frisch and rally for that ball."

"Hey man, it's my ball now," cries Mike Kirkwood as he comes down with the rebound.

Mike Johnson gives it a whirl as he says "OK arm, do your thing!"

Varsity Packs Season with Action

Adel Leads Hard Working Bombers Through Season

"In for two more points," exclaims the excited Kelly Ingenthron as the cardinal player attempts to block the shot.

"Spirit, Let's Hear It," shout the Bomber cheerleaders as they lead the Trojan fans in creating spirit.

Strenuous efforts by both teams end with Trojan Rick Schuster (31) being awarded the rebound.

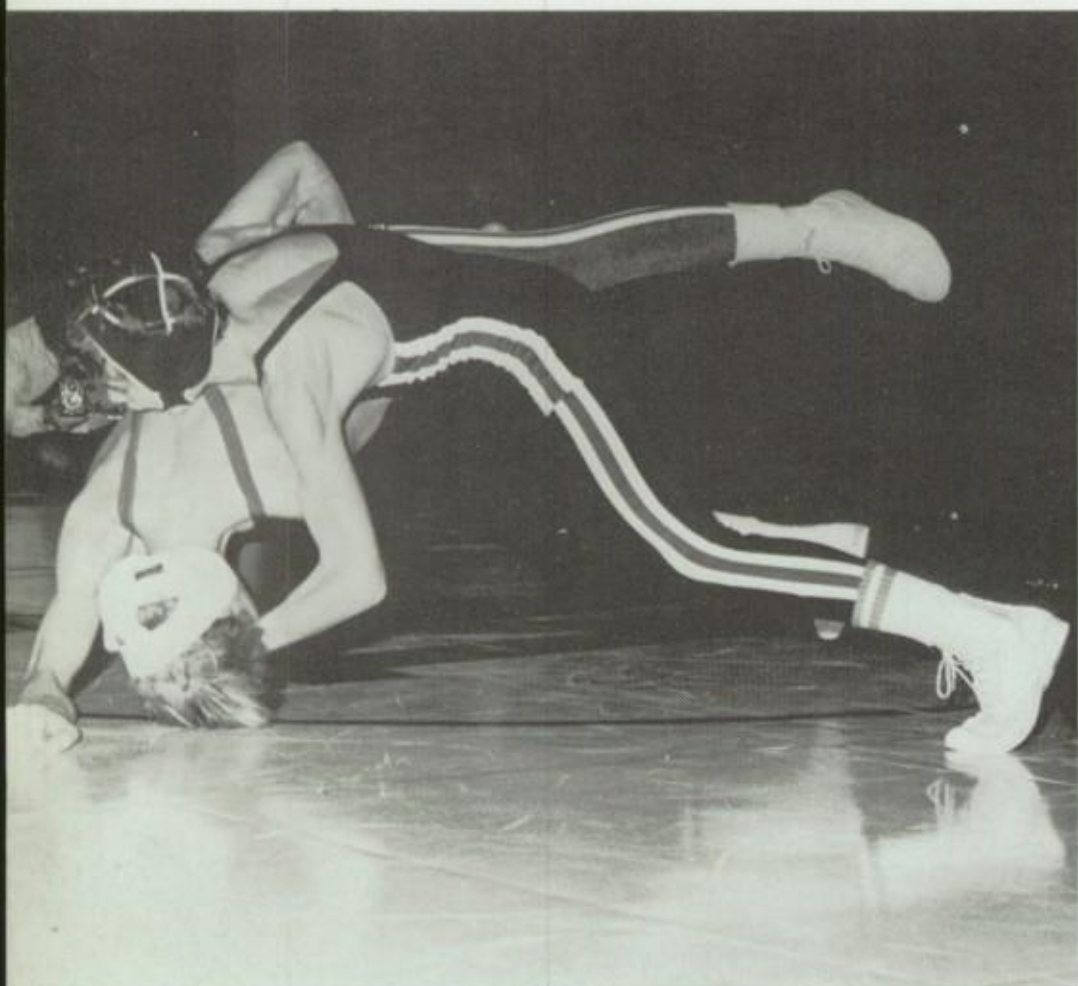

FRONT ROW: Denny Ling, Greg Milbrath, Greg Ling, Randy VanderVeen, Craig Rogers, Lynn Darling, Bruce Campbell, Dan Perkins, Rich Wieler, Rich Goettig, Lowell Anderson, Mark Strom. SECOND

Matmen Sock Their Trojan Power to the Southwest

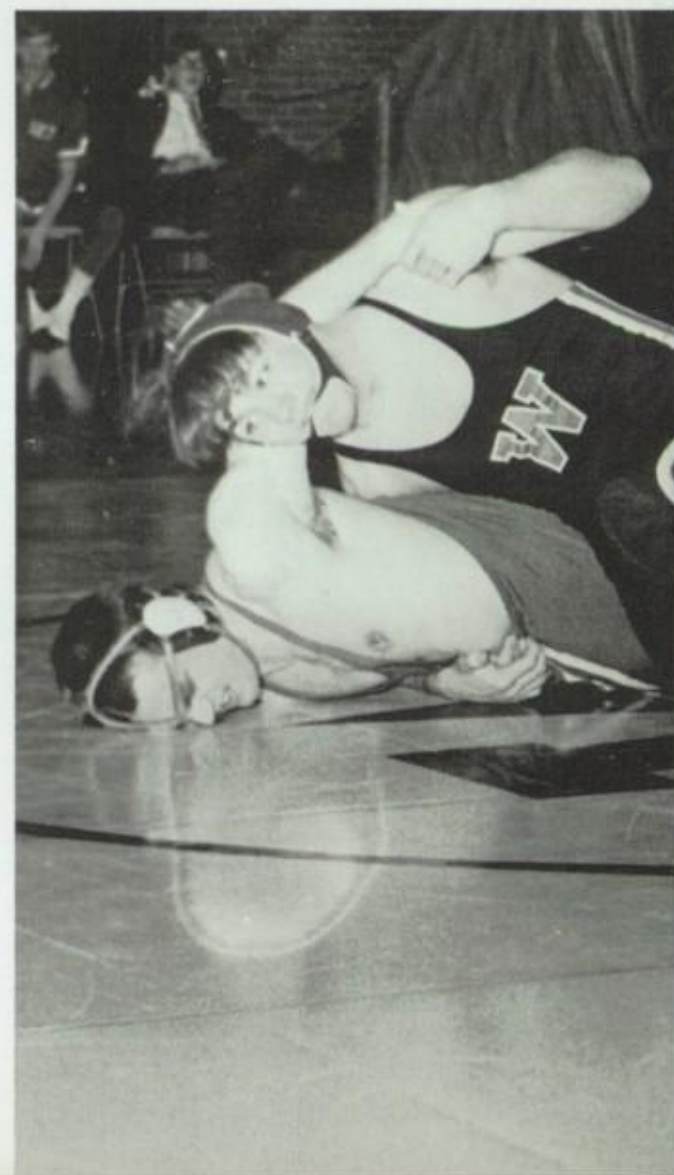

"If I can just turn him over and then flatten him," hopes Denny Ling as he attempts to pin his Slayton opponent.

Bruce Campbell attempts to flip his Luverne opponent on his back by applying a scissors.

Lowell Anderson puts the squeeze on his opponent in an attempt to keep him on the bottom.

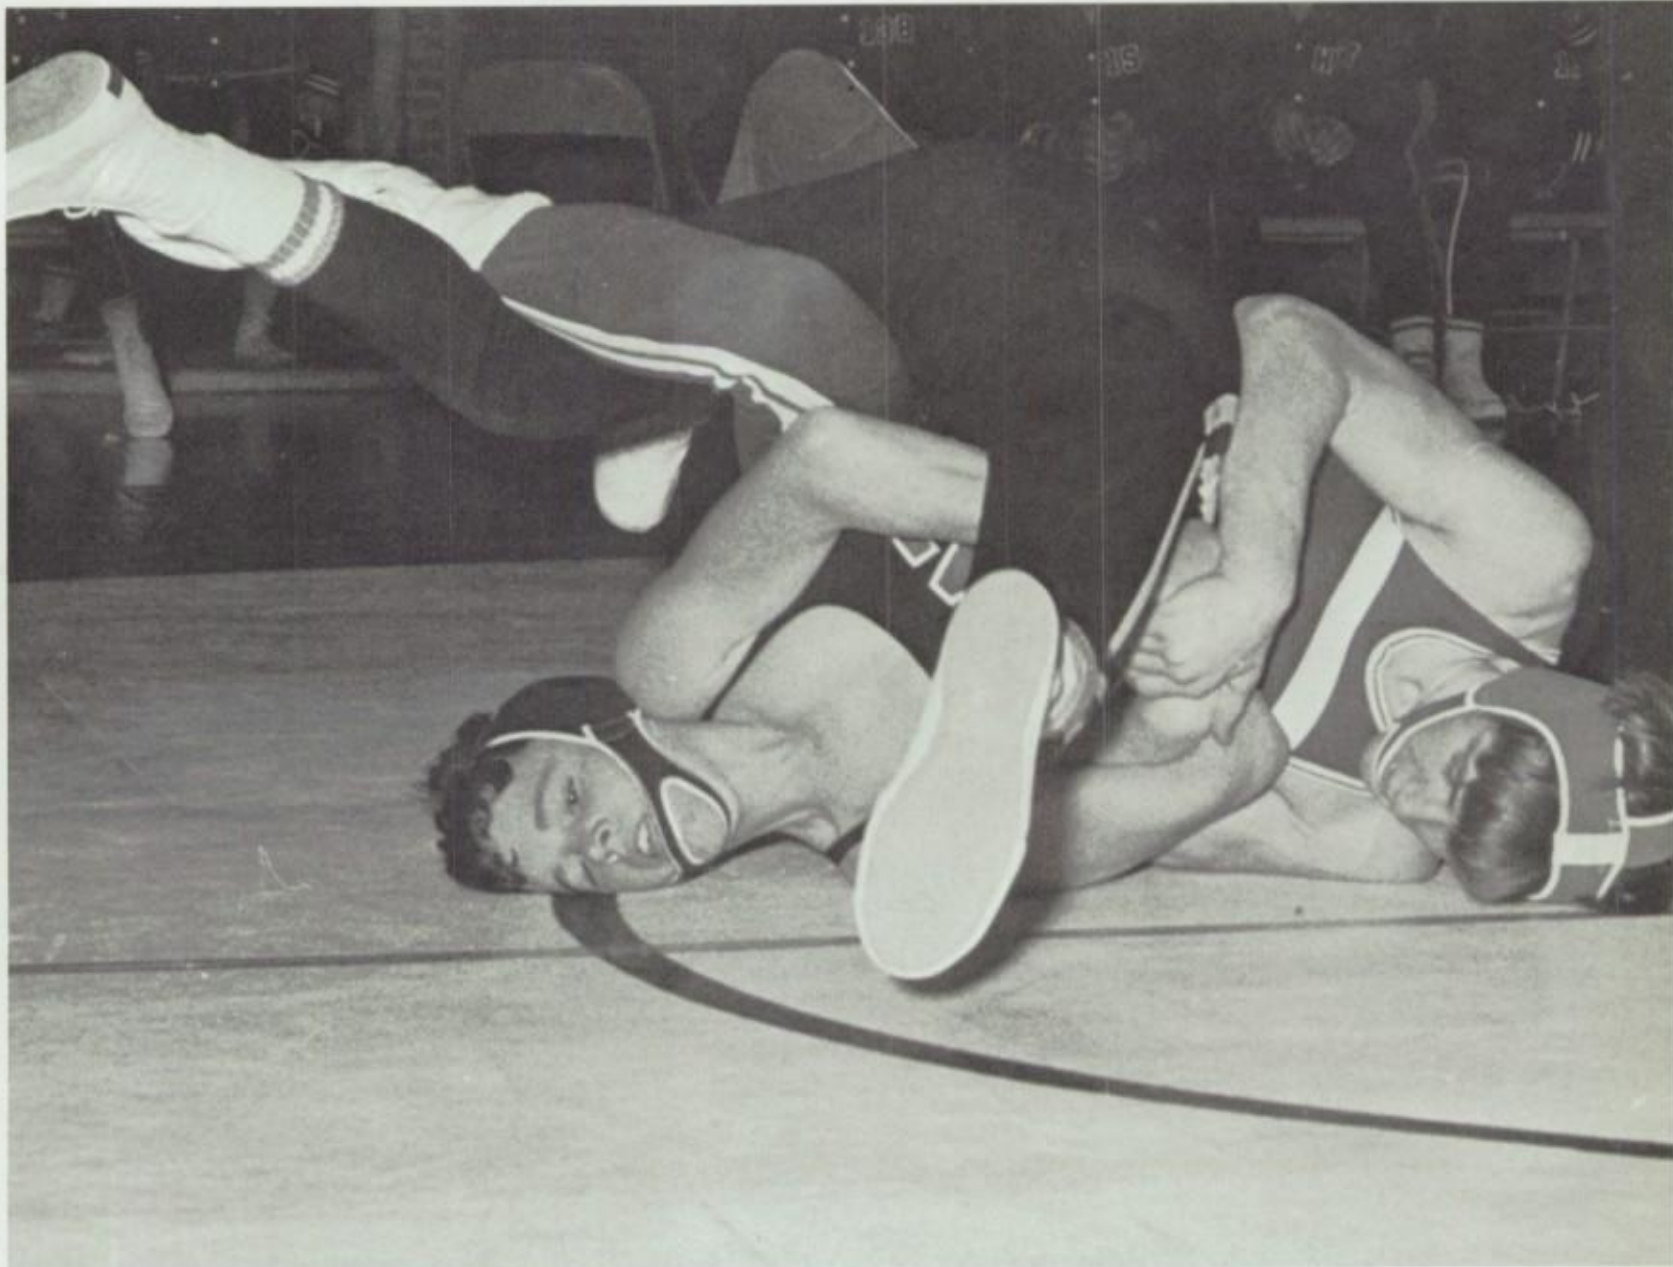

"Crank him around and put him down." Rich Goettig works on his opponent for a Trojan pin.

Grappler Dan Perkins lies in a misty haze after an exhausting victory.

The undefeated Greg Ling tangles with his opponent for a mat victory.

Heavy-Weight Mark Strom hangs on tight to his man in a battle for the victory line.

Craig Rogers rolls 'em over and pins him flat to the Trojan victory mat.

"What happened out there Benny?" questions Coach Droegemueller.

Matmen's Total Effort Results in Triumphant Year

Wrestler Dick Wieler hovers over his opponent in an attempt to win his match.

"I've got the hold that counts," mutters Lynn Darling.

Ben Horak's up, up and out as he upsets his opponents hold.

"What an armful!" grunts Dan Perkins.

"Anything you can do, I can do better," remarks Bernie Ahlberg with Trojan confidence.

Randy VanderVeen shows his bitter will as he attempts to win his match in a desperate struggle for another Trojan victory.

Cheerleaders

Wrestling cheerleaders generate spirit for their grapplers. They are; Linda Graff, Sue Trunnell, Julie Hansberger, Korky Schnitker, and Colleen Shannon.

The varsity cheerleaders; Jane Schroer, Donna Hauge, Marjean Mitchell, Pat Hill, and June Schroer, work to create spirit among the student body.

Spark Trojans with Spirit Throughout the Season

Watching intently the Wrestling Cheerleaders Sue Trunnel, Julie Hansberger, and Korky Schnitker wait for the final pin.

Cheerleaders gasp, the crowd ahs, as the Trojans gain another well desired victory.

WHS cheerleaders for the 1969-70 season were full of pep and energy for the entire year. They carried school spirit through Homecoming and Spirit Week.

The A-squad cheerleaders worked hard all season trying to promote spirit in the school and to give the Trojans a boost into victory. They were Marjean Mitchell, Jane Schroer, June Schroer, Pat Hill, and Donna Hauge.

Spirit Week at the Worthington Senior High was sponsored by the Student Council, and the chairman Pat Fauskee. The Spirit Week consisted of a grub day, a letter day and a color day. It also featured a powderpuff football game between the girls.

The pep meetings were sponsored by different clubs in the school. They were full of year round tuff spirit.

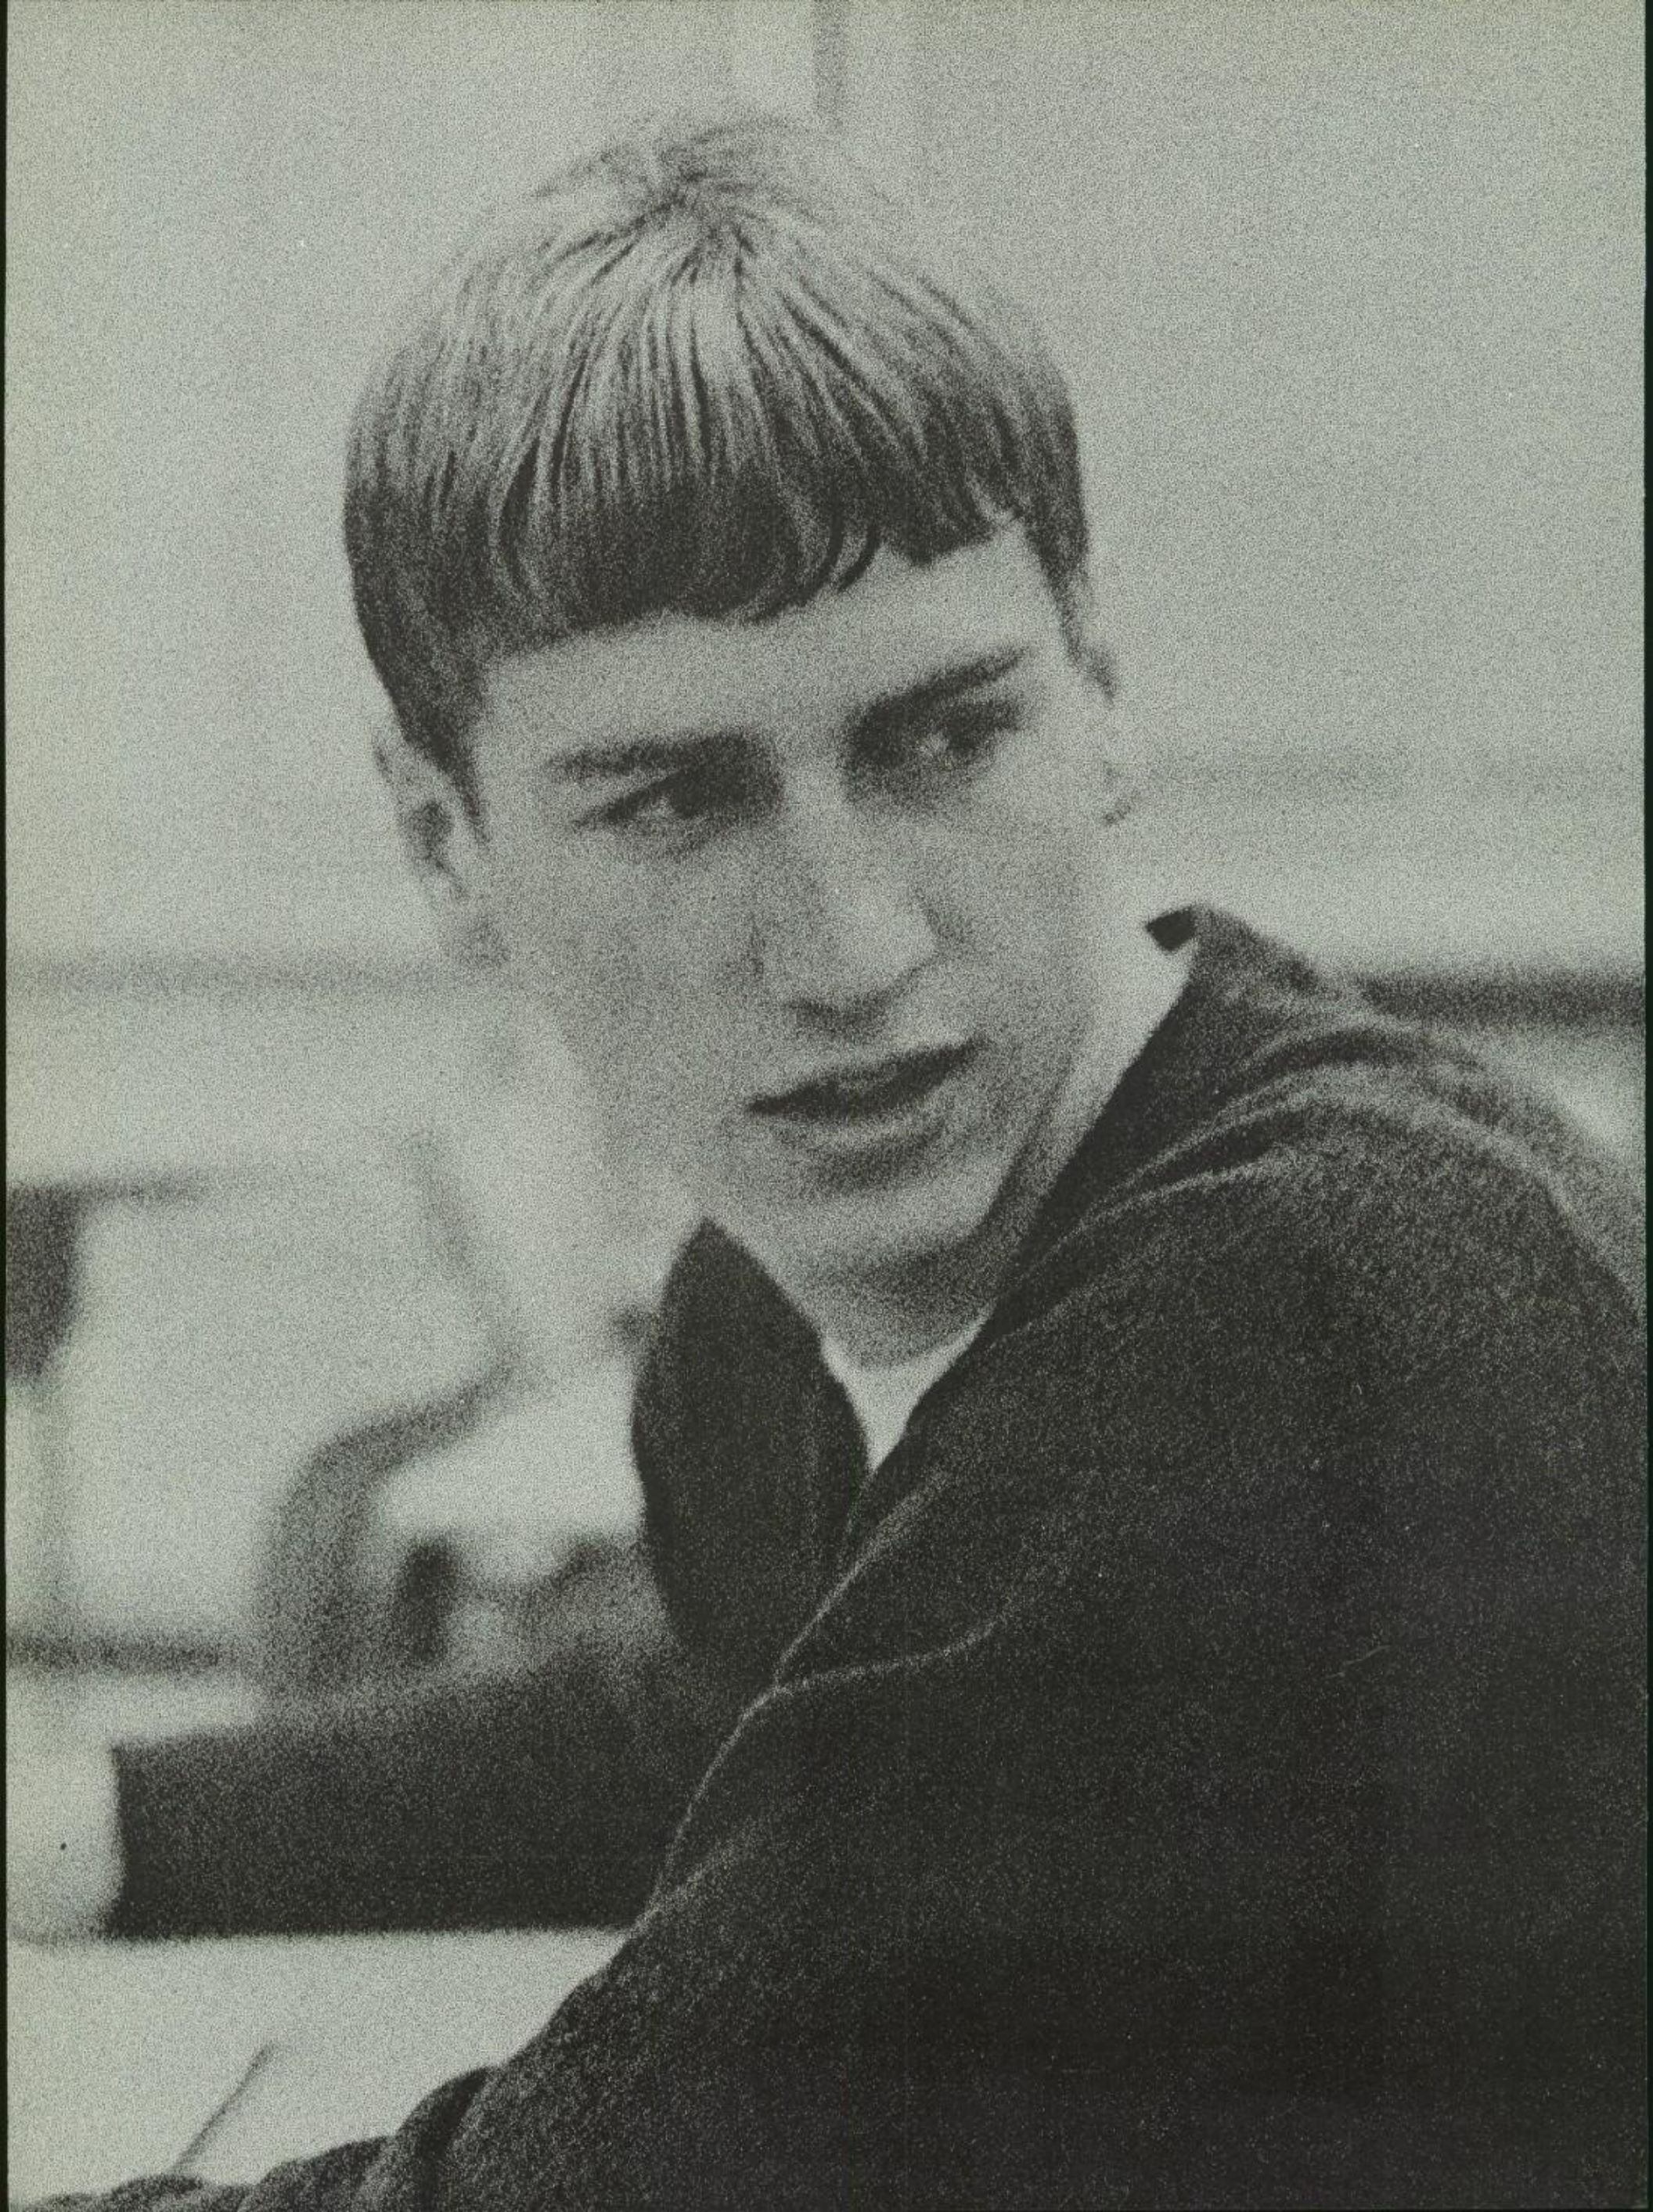

The cheerleaders rode pep buses to away games in high spirit preparing themselves for a fast and well earned victory. The away games had at least two buses to go into the opponents battlefield.

The wrestling cheerleaders; Julie Hansberger, Colleen Shannon, Linda Graff, Sue Trunnell, and Korky Schnitker, started with a great season of winning spirit and pep for their squad. They were chosen by a panel of judges and the student body.

The sophomore B-squad, full of get up and go, got up and left with a great season in both football and basketball. They were chosen by a panel of judges and then the sophomore class made the final choice. They were: Kelly Schnitker, Sue Taylor, Carolyn Keith, Mardella Voss, and Ginny Petersen.

Sophomore cheerleaders hold the "Bomber basketball" for a touch of luck. They are Sue Taylor, Kelly Schnitker, Mardella Voss, Ginny Petersen, and Carolyn Keith.

Seniors are vivacious people. They're always on the move—46 hours a day. Seniors make plans with eyes to the future, mindful of their problems and independence. They know the rules and the loopholes and are always looking for something new with which to experiment.

Authority was their big hang-up. They just couldn't see using legal hall passes or staying in homeroom. Yet, they took on the responsibilities of seniors. Jerry Buechler was elected to preside as head of the class. Assisting him was Debbie Heeringa as vice-president; Janelle Snyder, secretary; Bonny Schield, treasurer; and Charles Suss took the position of student council representative. Aiding the officers and the class in many important decisions were Miss Marcia Holland and Mr. Wilbert Johnson.

Outside activities took up most of their time. Three nights in one week-end were not unusual.

Coronation once again opened the homecoming festivities. Queen Marjean Mitchell and King Tom Kissinger reigned over a successful homecoming. Other members of the Royal Court were Julie Hansberger, Debbie Heeringa, June Schroer, Chris Smith, Janelle Snyder, Dean Ager, Denny Anderson, Jerry Buechler, Glen Hochhalter, and Steve Shipley.

Under the direction of Mr. Alan Swanson, Broadway-headed seniors presented "Time Out for Ginger" the 13, 14, 15, of November. With the help of the class participation in selling tickets, the attendance was record breaking.

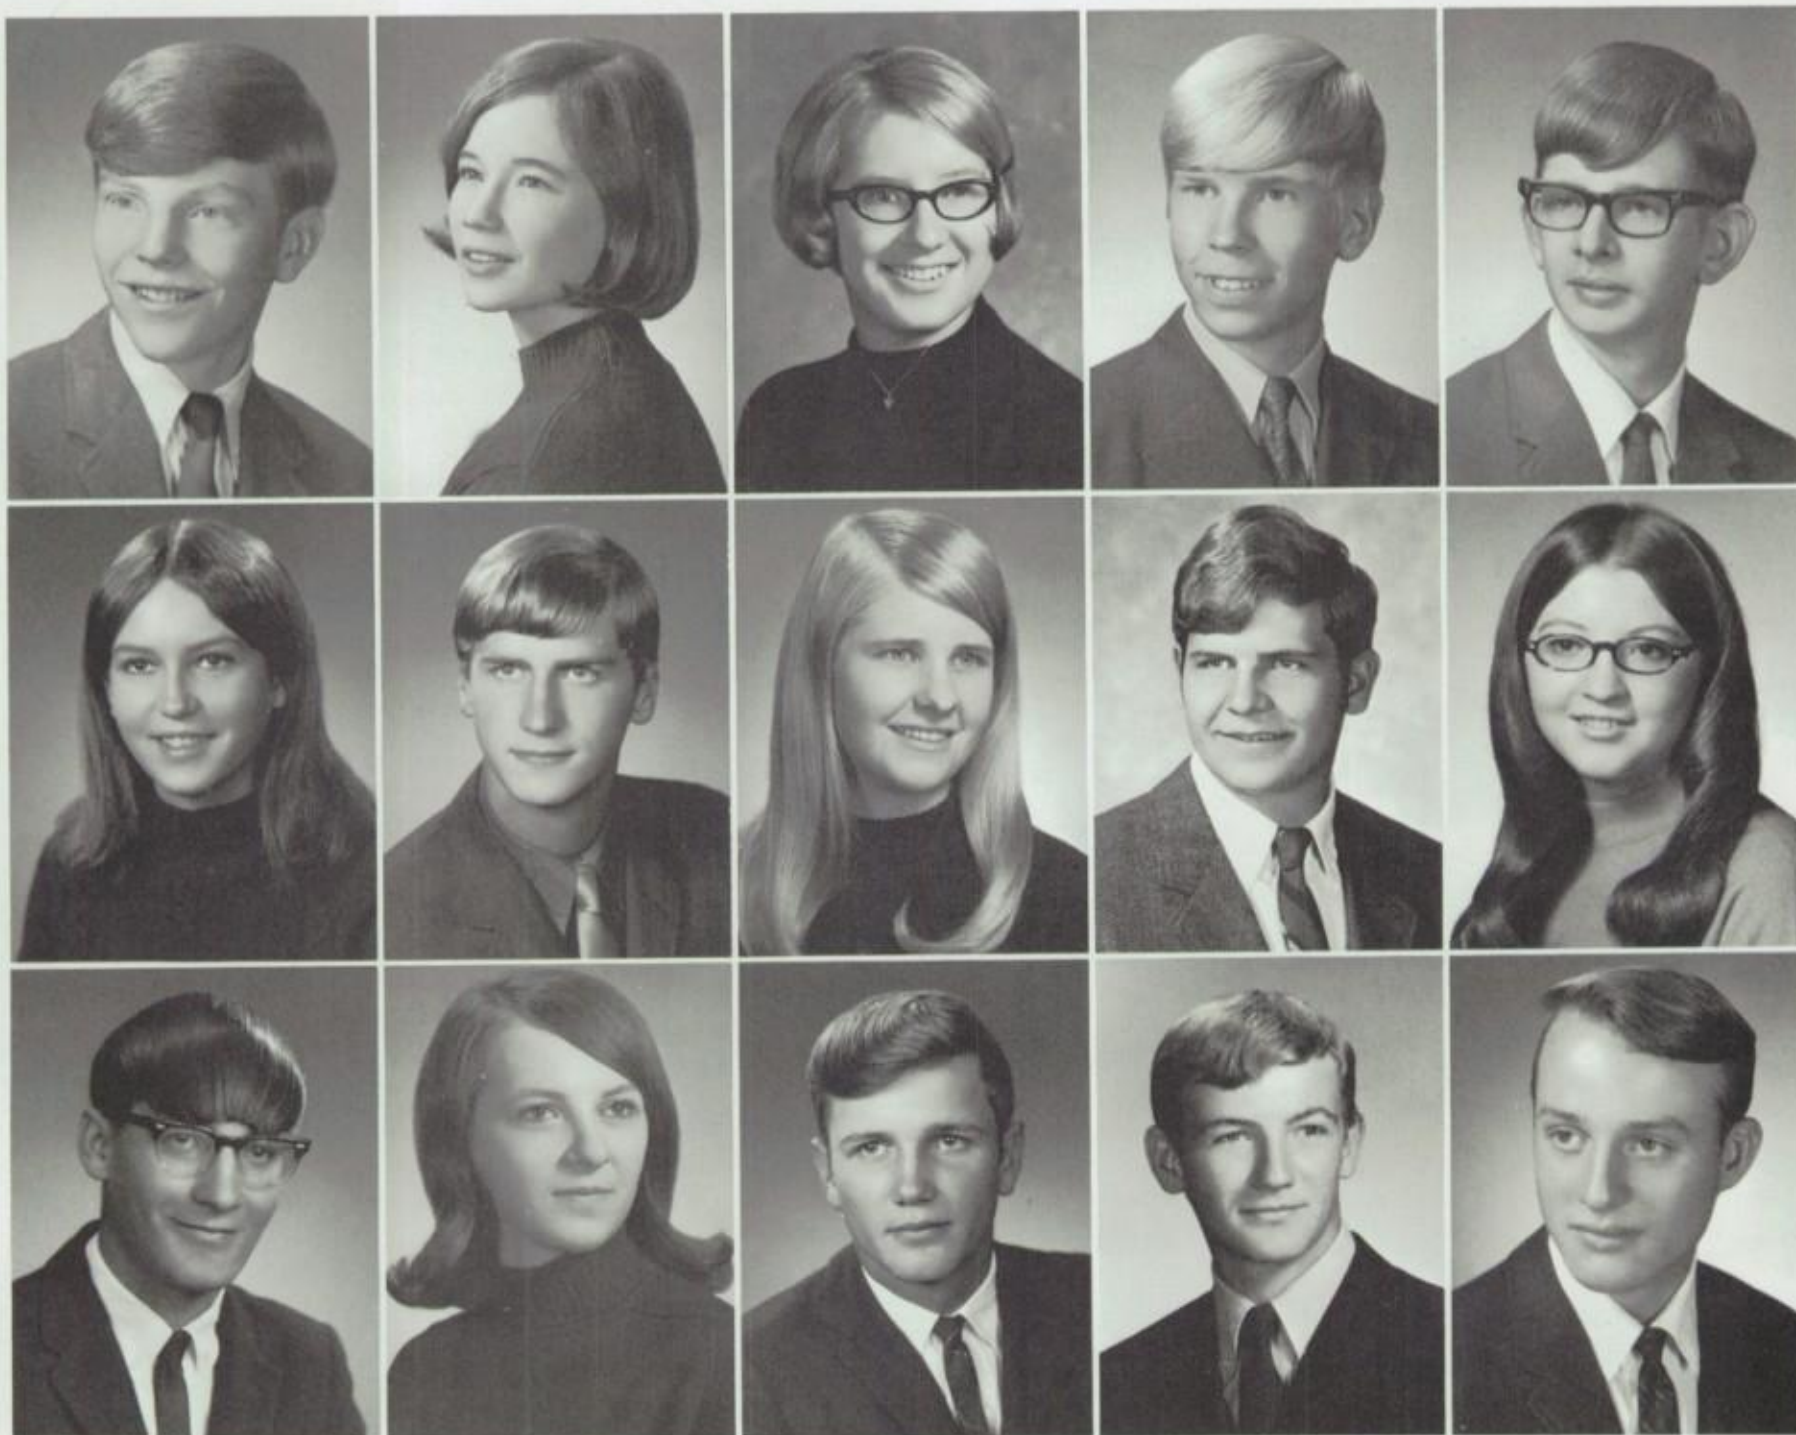

Through the fall and winter sports season, Marjean Mitchell, June Schroer, Jane Schroer, and Pat Hill, A-Squad boosters, led the 1969-70 football and basketball cheering squad on to a victorious year. Julie Hansberger, Korky Schnitker, and Sue Trunnell represented the senior cheerleaders at the wrestling meets. Seniors participated in such sports as football, basketball, wrestling, golf, track, tennis, and baseball to help make it a successful year.

Washington D.C., and New York provided the scenery for approximately 80 airbound seniors during Easter vacation. Through the YMCA Seminar trip, many of the important historical places in American History were re-discovered.

On May 28, the 1970 graduates embarked on a new life after twelve years of learning.

Deborah Heeringa, Charles Suss, Jerry Buechler, Janelle Snyder, and Bonny Shield pool their resources to devise new and intriguing ideas, and to discuss the problems of the Senior Class.

A Tough exam returned with a well earned A . . . a fast start worth the winning trophy . . . an exciting date with that special person . . . numberless hours in the staff room preparing that publication . . . things like these make the Junior year fun.

But Juniors have problems, too . . . chemistry, calculations, over-due term papers, and college entrance tests too soon approaching.

Sports played a large and exciting role in the Junior extra-curricular activities. They also proved to be time consuming as well as profitable. A number of Junior boys earned letters in various activities. Donna Hauge, Linda Graf and Colleen Shannon encouraged the teams on to victory in their role as cheerleaders.

Steering the Junior class on to higher goals were the class officers; Bob Espeset, President; Pete Wigersma, vice-president; Donna Hauge, secretary; Ruth Smith, treasurer; and Regional Delperdang, Student Council Representative. Donna Hauge and Pete Wigersma also represented the Junior class in the various homecoming festivities.

Climaxing the year was the gala Junior-Senior Prom, hosted by the Junior Class. Hard work and plenty of class spirit enabled the Junior Class to earn more than enough money to sponsor the annual prom. "Slinging" hamburgers and hotdogs at the National JC Wrestling meet, working the concession stands, the Junior class play, and sponsoring the Dr. Kit show were only a few of the projects required to raise the needed funds.

"With my limited budget, it is difficult to keep my 'wheels' rolling," bemoans an exasperated Wesley Mahlberg to his brother

Rolf. Many Worthington Senior High School students find their finances drained by a demanding automobile.

Confused and excited, the Sophomores entered Worthington Senior High School on August 28, 1969.

They took part in many activities and became an asset in the many clubs in which they participated.

Bruce Ahlberg was chosen to lead his Class of 1972 in the role of president. To assist him, Wayne Henkels was elected vice-president; Kelly Schnitker, secretary; Mardella Voss, treasurer; and Jackie Terhaar, Student Council Representative.

The first significant project of the year was the annual magazine sales. With help from the four top salesmen, Randy Carlson, Harold Zylstra, Peter Heles, and Brian Wass, they exceeded their $9,000 goal by $1,800.

The income realized from their efforts helped to fill the empty coffers of the class treasury and subsidized the 1970 Trojan.

To inspire and encourage the "Bombers" on to their very successful season, Ginny Peterson, Carolyn Keith, Kelly Schnitker, Mardella Voss, and Sue Taylor were chosen as Cheerleaders.

Homecoming proved to be a very memorable event. Their selection of Sophomore attendants was a very important choice for them. Michelle Trunnel and Tom Suby proudly represented their class in the 1969-70 Homecoming events. A great deal of enthusiasm and extra time was also evidenced by the decoration on the goal posts during our Homecoming festivities.

The Sophomores adjusted very easily to their new environment. Two more years among their classmates and teachers are eagerly anticipated by the class of 1972.

Class Officers, Kelly Schnitker, Mardella Voss, Jackie Terhaar, Wayne Henkels, and Bruce Ahlberg, board the plane to lead the sophomore class to the peak of a tremendous year at Worthington Senior High.

At the end of our high school days, a wonderful part of our life, we must step out into the world and strive to attain higher and richer goals than ever before. We, the staff, have tried our hardest to capture the highlights of this year at WHS.

I would like to express sincere thanks to all those people who helped to create the 1970 Trojan. To Mr. Herbert Pederson goes the thanks of the staff for his patience and guidance in putting out the annual. Special thanks goes to the staff for their many hours of work and for all their efforts, and to the photographer for all his long hours of hard work in taking, developing, and printing pictures. Most of all, I thank the student body for their cooperation in recording the activities at Worthington Senior High. Without you, the student, none of this would be possible.

Each day of our high school life will be remembered and to help you recall each day to the fullest, we, the staff, present the 1970 Trojan.

Seniors leave the warmth of the White House, with collars up and hands in their pockets, to continue in their touring of Washington, D.C.

Fifty-two seniors from WHS, along with seven advisors, took part in the 1970 YMCA "Know Your Government Seminar." They arrived in Washington, D.C. on March 19, 1970, for a five day visit of the nation's capital.

Included in their tour there, were the Capitol Building, the Smithsonian Institution, the White House, the Washington Monument, the Lincoln Memorial, Arlington National Cemetery and the Kennedy Gravesite, and Mount Vernon. The participants also attended sessions in the House of Representatives and the Senate and were addressed by Senator Mondale.

On March 24, the group traveled to New York City by bus, where they stayed at the Times Square Motor Hotel. Some of the sights they visited were; Central Park, Greenwich Village, Chinatown, the United Nations, the Statue of Liberty, and the New York Stock Exchange.

The students also saw two Broadway plays of their choice and enjoyed an evening at "Mamma Leoni's", an Italian Restaurant. They then returned home by plane on March 28, 1970, despite the threatening airlines strike.

Acting as advisors for the trip were Mr. Bill Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Miller, Mr. and Mrs. James Gay, and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Peters.

Representing the United States at the Model U.N. Assembly, Sue Gruss, Jerry Buechler, Scott Rubsam, and Liz Gallagher concentrate on the spoken policies of another United Nations representative.

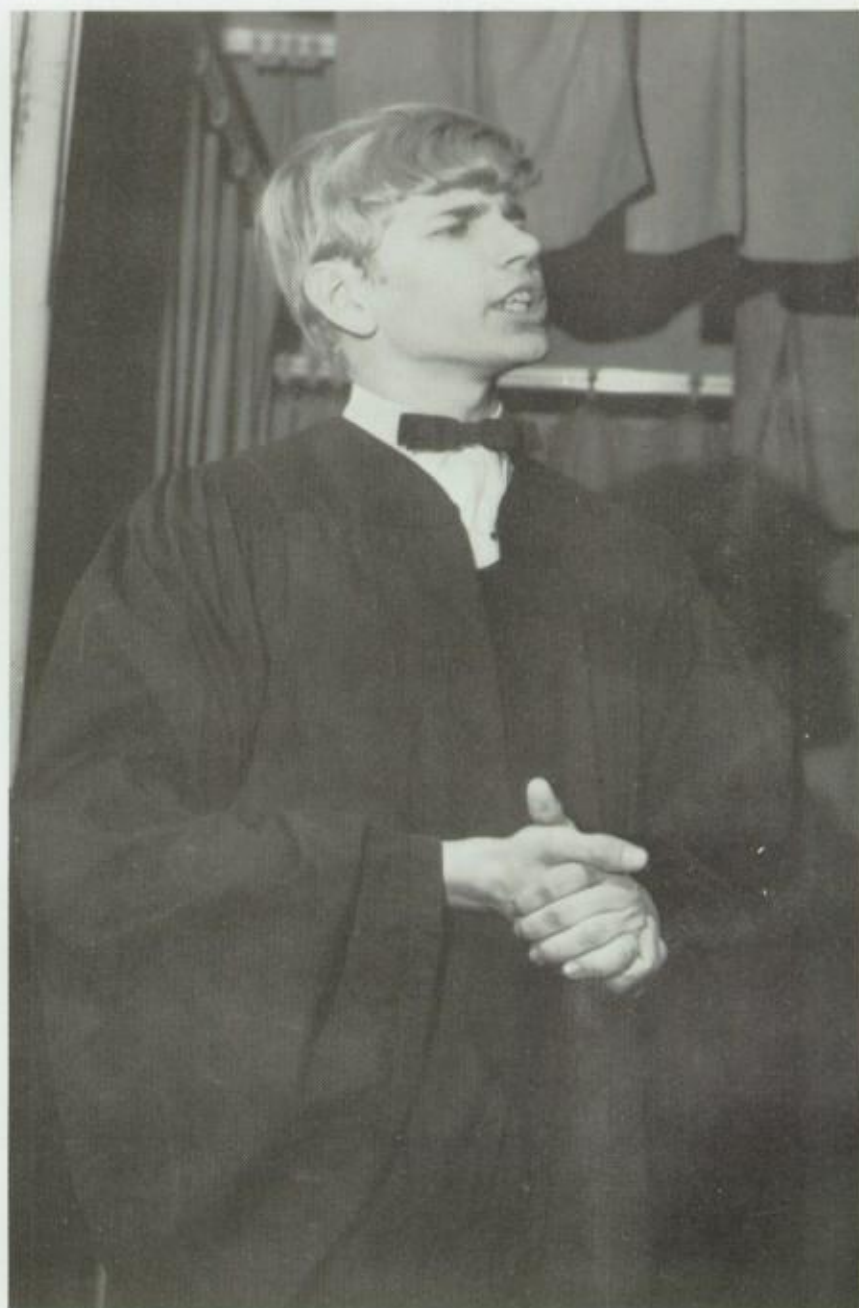

Students Develope Talents, Fascinate Audience

Somberly watching her friends, Ann Johnson, alias Emily, meditates upon what their feelings and thoughts are.

Bounding down the stairs, George and Emily leave the church to live a life of happiness and loneliness together.

Greg Hall ponders upon a thought before he speaks his mind.

Unique in comparison to the usual class plays, the class of 1971 presented the play "Our Town". Written by Thornton Wilder, the play lacked the usual scenery. In doing this, Wilder stimulates the imagination of the captivated audience. Wilder also ignored the accepted patterns of structure and in doing so he effectively destroyed the conventional barriers between the characters and the audience.

"Our Town" was presented to the Worthington Senior High School on April 16, 17, and 18. A pleasing crowd attended the performance each evening making the play a success. To many people, this play will be placed among the long-remembered favorite hymns.

Under the excellent guidance of Mrs. Olson and Miss Hesselink, the cast and crew did an outstanding job in performing an extraordinary play. The principal characters were: Greg Hall as the stage manager, Ann Johnson portraying Emily, and Reg Delperdang, as George. Tom Osterberg and Chris Naab represented Doctor and Mrs. Gibbs respectively and playing Mr. and Mrs. Webb were Dave Vander Kooi and Cyndi Fager. Acting as student director was senior, Scott Rubsam.

Staring into space, Lola, portrayed by Cherri Rust, whispers a short prayer for her husband.

A cutting from Come Back Little Sheba by William Inge was presented as Worthington's One Act Play Contest entry. The contest was held at Pipestone in January at which Come Back Little Sheba received an A rating. A performance for the Worthington public was given also in January.

The realization that one must live in the present and future instead of the past is one of the main themes of Come Back Little Sheba. Doc and Lola Delovey are a middle-aged couple who have watched many of their youthful hopes for success drain away through Doc's alcoholism and Lola's inability to really cope with reality. In the play, a segment of their lives is presented. In this segment, they both come to terms with reality and strike out to make what they can of the remainder of their lives.

The main characters in the play were Cherri Rust as Lola Delovey and Scott Rubsam as her husband, Doc Delovey.

"You've got to try and do good!" cries Lola's husband, played by Scott Rubsam, as he attempts to reawaken his wife.

Lola's childish manners and inability to cope with life are brought out as she converses with her friend, played by Margaret Rickers.

1970 WHS Choir Portrays Musical, "South Pacific"

The 1970 musical production by the Worthington Senior High School Choir was the reproduction of the play "South Pacific".

The musical was put on entirely by the choir, with Mr. David Blegen directing, and assisted by Mr. Alan Swanson. Susan Graf was the student director.

The main characters of the play were portrayed by Jane Meyer, John Nunamaker, Bonny Schield, and Stuart Evensen. Members of the choir composed the rest of the cast.

With the setting of the musical on a tropical island in the South Pacific, the main plot of the story dealt with the problems of Nellie Forbush, a navy nurse, with Emile de Becque, a French plantation owner.

Bloody Mary, Bonnie Schield, a native of the island Bali Hai, captivated a group of servicemen with an enchanting love song of Bali Hai.

Members of the choir played the parts of natives and servicemen during song and dance routines. Songs featured in the reproduction of the musical were, "Bali Hai", "I'm Gonna Wash That Man Right Outta My Hair", and "There's Nothing Like a Dame".

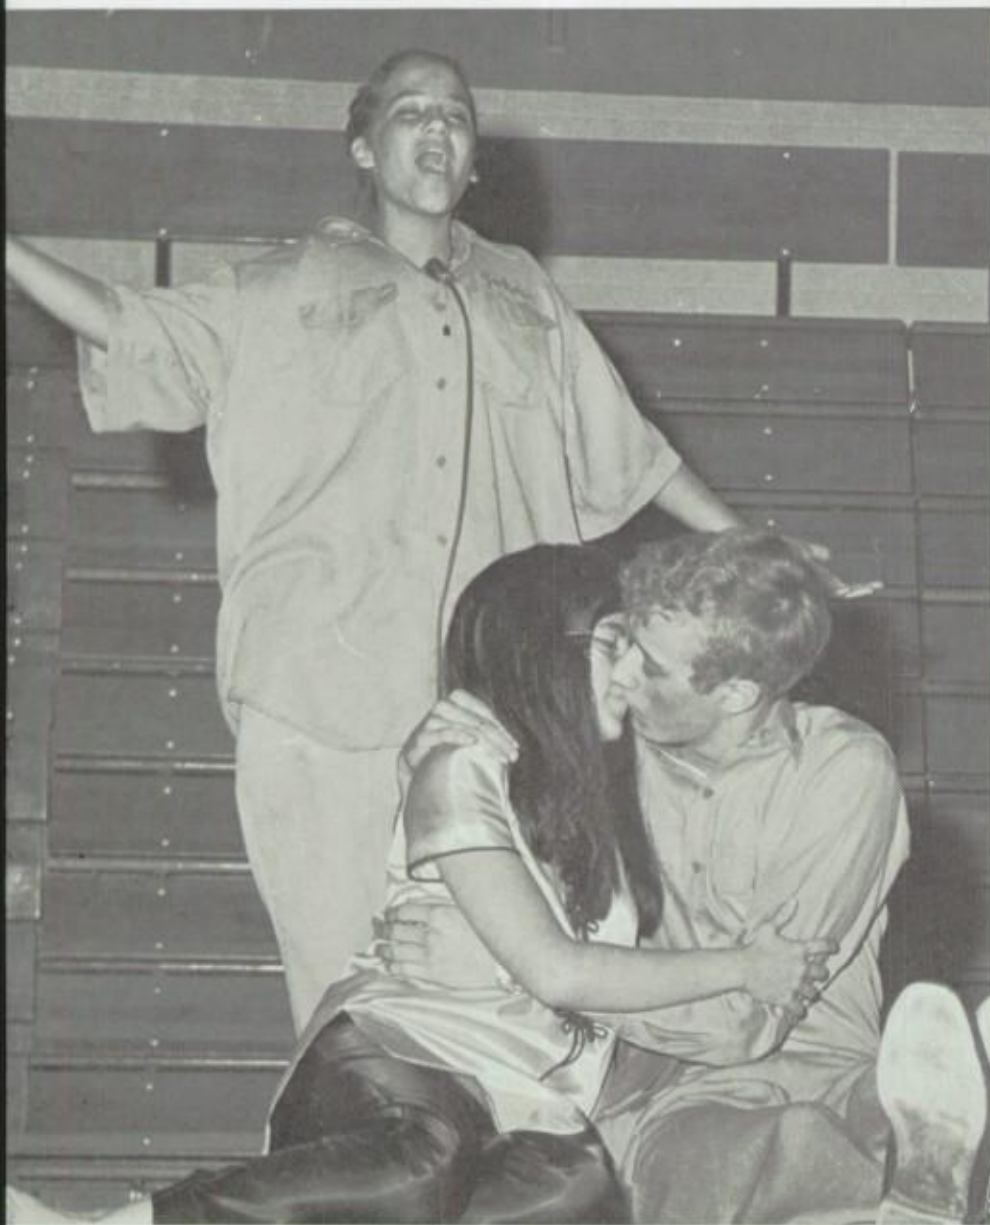

The island settings were painted by the members of the Choir.

Leot, Peggy Matheson, and Lt. Cable, Stuart Evensen, demonstrate the captivity of Bali Hai, as Bloody Mary, Bonny Schield sings serenely.

While the girls enjoy putting on the entertainment, the sailor enjoys watching.

Facing each other, Emile de Becque, John Nunamaker, sings of his new-found love for Nellie Forbush, Jane Meyer.

Holding on to her hat, Jane Meyer wonders at the sight of Scott Rubsam in front of her.

Waiters' and Waitresses' provide some of the entertainment for the Junior-Senior banquet.

Joy Hammer and Brian Wass, two of the Waiters and waitresses, serve punch with a smile, wishing that they too could go out and dance.
